Bob Monnett Stars for Bays in Victory Over Philadelphia Club

GAME RECAP (GREEN BAY PRESS-GAZETTE)

(GREEN BAY) - Displaying power, drive and a passing attack that at times brought memories of championship teams of a few years ago, the Green Bay Packers delivered, to the tune of 19 to 6, in the opening National league game of the season here Sunday afternoon. A crowd of 5,500 turned out at the City stadium and the Philadelphia Eagles were the victims. It was a Packer team that played smooth, smart football that repulsed the Eagles - a team that looked like it might go to town in the tough 1934 race. Gone were many of the ragged spots of a week ago, and in their place were men who performed efficiently. Particularly pleasing was the forward passing attack - an offense that brought eight successful tosses in 14 attempts for more than 100 yards in advances. Running plays also worked smoothly with backs clicking to hit holes opened by linemen. Defensively, except on a few rare occasions, the team was capable of stopping most of the plays shot at it by the Eagles and only three passes were completed over it for very small gains.

NEW MEN LOOKED GOOD

New men fit smoothly into the Packer machine. Bob Jones from Indiana, Frank Butler of Michigan State, Carl Jorgenson and Ad Schwammel from the west coast were impressive in the line both on offense and defense. Veterans also were boring into repulse threats of the invaders, with Mike Michalske, Red Bultman and Joe Kurth, to mention only a few, setting the pace. Standing out among many brilliant performers, however, were two men - Bob Monnett for Green Bay and Swede Hanson for the Eagles. They demonstrated as much football as any pair of backs have done here in years. Monnett accounted for 16 of the Packers' points while Hanson featured in the greatest run of the day, an 81-yard dash through a broken field, twisting, squirming and cutting back to shake off tacklers and score the Eagles' only marker. That wasn't all Hanson did. He passed, punted, ran back punts and carried the ball on three out of every five Eagle plays in the early stages. Yes, he's a football player! It was an unusually clean game and not a major penalty was called. The men charged and blocked hard, but cleanly, tackled the same way. Punting, on the average, was not up to the usual standard, but timing on Packer plays was much better than a week ago, although it still can stand some attention. The line, on the whole, carried on its assignments both on offense and defense, but backs occasionally were slow in hitting the holes.

GAIN EARLY LEAD

The Bays ran up a 16 to 0 lead on a pair of touchdowns and a field goal in the first half and were less than two yards from a third touchdown as the gun sounded. At the outset they were slow in getting underway and it looked like the Eagles were going to be plenty tough, but once the Packers began to click it didn't take long to run up a score and from that point to the end there was little doubt as to the outcome although the invaders never let down, and gave the Packers plenty of trouble. The Eagles were never in scoring territory in the early stages, but in the final half they played the Packers on almost even teams. This might have been due to a natural letdown on Green Bay's part, after they had run up a commanding lead. The Chicago Bears come here next Sunday, and you can't blame them from holding something in reserve, as there were at least two Bear scouts at the game. Blocking particularly on touchdown runs by Bob Monnett was superb. Buckets Goldenberg and Clark Hinkle were standouts in this department. So were the guards who pulled out on many plays. They had trouble occasionally taking out such stellar vets as Kennelly and Storm, but, as a general rule, they cleared the way efficiently.

GANTENBEIN GETS PASS

It was not until late in the first period that the Packers scored. Play had been mostly in the center of the field until Herber tossed a pass to Gantenbein to put the ball on the Eagles' 43 yard mark. After an exchange of punts, Grove got loose through a hole at left tackle and, behind some neat blocking by Michalske, crashed through to the Eagles' 37 yard line. Grove then passed to Peterson for a 16 yard gain, and Herber repeated to the same end for a seven yard advance. Hinkle hit the center like a pile drive and it was a first down on the Eagles' eight-yard mark. Hinkle picked up three more yards at the same spot, but Herber was smeared for losses on two smashes. On the fourth down Grove dropped back and held the ball. Hinkle kicked from the 20-yard mark and the boot sailed squarely between the uprights, giving the Bays three points. The Bays then continued to crash ahead as the second period got underway. A pass from Hinkle to Gantenbein was good for a 15 yard gain to the Eagles' 46-yard mark. Monnett then tossed a long pass to Grove who made a great catch on the 14-yard mark, ran five yards and was pulled down. Goldenberg split through the center for five yards and on the next play it was Monnett's turn again. He raced around right end, with Hinkle and Goldenberg blocking for him. Near the sidelines he cut in sharply, doing a toe dance to avoid going out of bounds and sailed over the goal. Monnett then kicked for the extra point and the Bays had a 10-point lead. A few minutes later the Packers scored again.

PACKER PASSES CLICK

A few minutes later the Packers scored again after a poor punt by Hanson had gone out of bounds on the Philadelphia 31-yard mark. Grove picked up three yards around left end on the first play. On the second Monnett slid through right tackle, shook off a halfback, cut sharply to his right and outran another pair of backs and raced 28 yards to score. He tried the kick for the extra point but the ball hit the north upright and bounced back into the field. Bultman intercepted a desperate Eagle pass on the invaders' 25 yard line just before the end of the half. Johnston and Goldenberg rammed the line for a first down on the 13-yard mark and Casper advanced it to the Eagles' four on a dash around end for nine yards. On the next play Casper was stopped at the line and the gun ended the half before another play could take place. Soon after the start of the third period another good Packer pass clicked, this time from Herber to Laws, who made a sensational catch on the 20 yard mark. Hajek stopped the Packer back when he was nearly clear for a touchdown. The Packer advanced to the 18 on line bucks by Goldenberg and Johnston and Schwammel dropped back to try a placekick. The ball was high enough but wide of the posts.

SCHWAMMEL'S KICK GOOD

A few plays later Schwammel got another chance at a placekick and this time delivered. The Packers got the ball on the Eagle 35 yard mark after a punt had sailed out of bounds. Goldenberg and Herber advanced the ball six yards and then Grove dropped back, held the ball and Schwammel kicked from the 37-yard mark, the ball sailing neatly over the uprights for the Packers' final three points and they held a 19 to 0 lead. After the kickoff the Eagles took the ball on their own 23. They were tossed back for four yards on a couple of plays. Then came Hanson's remarkable run. He started wide around left end, eluded two men who tried to stop him behind the line of scrimmage, jerked himself out of the outstretched arms of Herber and continued to run. Six Eagle men rapidly formed interference and the halfback raced down the field. They took out man after man and only Grove remained between Hanson and the goal. He knocked Hanson down on the 16-yard mark but couldn't hold him and the fleet back got to his feet and raced on to the goal. Matesic tried for the extra point but it was low and the Eagles trailed, 19 to 6. After that the Packers played safe football, protecting their lead and showing little in the way of a diversified attack. They were content to let the Eagles, take the chances which they did, but nothing came of them.

Stepping Fast to Help the Green Bay Cause

Four men should be able to stop one ball-carrier, but Sunday when Bob Monnett got loose all they grabbed at was the air and the fleet Bay back raced around end for a touchdown. He is pictured in the top view at the start of his 28-yard run for the Packer's second touchdown. In the picture at the left, Clark Hinkle, Packer fullback, grits his teeth and charges ahead, with Strom tryin' to stop him. Strom got his man but was shaken up quite a bit on the play.

PACKERS, BEARS TO RENEW OLD RIVALRY

JOHNSTON WILL PLAY FOOTBALL WITH ST. LOUIS

SEPT 17 (Green Bay) - Chester (Swede) Johnston, hard driving Appleton fullback, has been forced to turn in his Green Bay Packer uniform, as the St. Louis Gunners are holding him to a contract signed previous to that made with the Packers, it was announced today by Coach E.L. Lambeau. Johnston played with the St. Louis club last year, and at the end of the season signed a contract to play with the team again this year. as he believed the Gunners would not play this year and the contract would not be binding, he entered into an agreement early this year to play with the Packers. St. Louis organized again for the 1934 season and ordered Johnston to report. They announced that unless he played with St. Louis, he would be fined $125 each game he played with another club, as they claimed his contract was binding. Rather than become involved in a wrangle with the St. Louis club over the deal, the Packers let him go today, retaining his contract, however, so that if he does not play with St. Louis he cannot play with any National league team except the Packers. It is possible that Lambeau can arrange a deal may be made with St. Louis to have him come back here later in the year, according to Coach Lambeau. The Packer coach also announced the release of Rollie Halfman, former Marquette halfback, and Phil Poth, guard from Gonzaga. Although both have shown promise, they are little too light for the bruising National professional race. The Packers now have a squad of 27 men.

SIDELIGHTS

SEPT 17 (Green Bay) - Hinkle brought a number of grunts from tacklers when they hit him. Always running hard, the former Bucknell fullback seems to put on a little extra pressure when tackled and it was usually felt...Lipski was remonstrated by Referee Bobby Cahn for his chance of language after Witte blocked him out of a play - after the play was over. The Philadelphia center was made, and left no one in doubt about it..."What's the matter?" groaned one of the Packer linemen to Coach Lambeau after he has been taken from the game. Most of the fellows don't like going out, even when they are tired. Frequent substitutions, however, helps keep them fresh...At one stage of the game four members of the Packer team played without headguards, which isn't always a good policy. The men were Herber, Perry, Johnston and Gantenbein...Joe Kresky, former Marquette star, played nearly the entire first half. He turned in a sweet game, pulling ball carriers down behind the line of scrimmage on a few occasions...Michalske and Barrager made an excellent defensive pair. They also rooted out the opposing center on several occasions to give the ball carriers an opening...One of the best passes of the day went from Herber to Laws right over the center in the third period. It brought a gain of more than 20 yards. Laws was hurt a few moments later on a similar play and had to leave the game. He received a kick in the stomach but suffered no ill effects and would have been able to reenter the game if needed...The longest pass of the day was a left-handed toss by Knapper, Eagle back, in the third quarter. Standing on the 50-yard line he tossed the ball over the goal line. It was as good as a punt, as it came on the last down and gave the Packers the ball on their own 20. No one had a chance to get it...Storm played in the backfield for the Eagles but got more than his share of tackles. Some were behind the line...On one occasion, Wiener, Eagle back, got loose after a fumble and ran some 30 yards before Michalske dragged him down. He turned in some beautiful stepping to get loose but the play was called back as there was a fumble before he got loose on the lateral-forward pass play...Bob Monnett's agile feet were quite a surprise to halfback Kavel when he went over for his first touchdown. Monnett circled right end with the help of good blocking by Hinkle and Goldenberg but Kavel sifted through and started to shove Monnett out of bounds. Just when Kavel thought everything was over, Monnett dug his cleats in and came to a quick stop about two feet from the sidelines and then proceeded to scamper the rest of the way down the sidelines over the goal. Kavel looked up from the dirt just as he crossed the line, and made the caustic remark, "What the hell?"...Buckets Goldenberg's power drives were a great source of amusement and delight to the Green Bay fans. There would be a big pileup at the line of scrimmage and then Goldenberg's head and body would poke out the other side for about a five yard gain. When he pulled off a quarterback sneak once no one saw him until he was safe on the ground about five yards over the line of scrimmage...Bobbie Cahn remarked midway in the second half that he was getting quite a workout. The little Chicago umpire is always very active, chasing the ball all over the field and he had quite a bit of chasing to do yesterday...Goldenberg tried to pull a wrestling hold on Roberts in the third quarter and Roberts didn't like it. Buckets tackled him around the shoulders and started to throw him to the ground. On the next play Buckets was still mad, and when Knapper tried to get around the Packers' left end, Buckets was right there waiting for him. There were two Philadelphia players and two Packer men coming together at the left end and Buckets came up from behind and with a lunge along the ground upset all four of them...The Keshena Indian school band provided entertainment between halves...Scouts from other National league clubs were in the stands. The Bears had Coach Larry Walquist and Luke Johnsos, veteran end on hand, taking diagrams of plays made by the Packers to prepare the Bruins for the game next Sunday with Green Bay here...Joe Holsinger, now a member of the Wisconsin coaching staff at Madison, scouted the game for the Detroit Lions' club. He scouted both Green Bay and the Eagles as Detroit meets both teams.

NEXT THREE GAMES MOST IMPORTANT ON SCHEDULE; LAMBEAU

SEPT 17 (Green Bay) - Eleven of the new players who joined the Packer squad this year were guests this noon of the Lions club at its weekly luncheon meeting at the Beaumont hotel. Coach E.L. Lambeau gave a brief talk on prospects for the season and introduced the new men. "The next three games, with the Bears, New York Giants and Detroit, will be the toughest on our schedule, I believe," Lambeau said. "If we can hurdle these I feel certain that the remainder of our schedule

PACKERS, BEARS TO RENEW OLD RIVALRY

SEPT 18 (Green Bay) - Although the Chicago Bears, who meet the Green Bay Packers at City stadium Sunday in the 30th renewal of the NFL's oldest series, have added several impressive names to their squad, the fact remains that the national champions are banking pretty strongly on their old, tried players in an effort to win their third successive championship. Outstanding among the new Bears are Beattie Feathers, 190-pound all-America back from Tennessee; Wayland Becker, former East Green Bay ace who starred at end for Marquette; and Walter Kiesling, 262-pound guard who was obtained this season from the Chicago Cardinals...FEATHERS AND BECKER: It will be Feathers and Becker who will attract the most attention here. Feathers' reputation is nationwide, and Becker, in addition to being a Green Bay product and well known here, already has shone for the Bears in the All Star game last month. But the big, bruising bunch that Bay fans know all too well - the hard fighting aggregation that snatched three games from the Bays last season - are the men upon whom Sunday's victory may largely depend. Bill Hewitt, the 190-pound end from Michigan who wrecked nearly single-handed the Packer title hopes in the first Packer-Bear game last season, will be back at his usual wing post, and he is not the only outstanding end the invaders possess. Becker can be depended upon to see service at an end, and Wayland probably will do some of the Chicago punting as well. Two other veterans of the flanks, Luke Johnson, 197-pound Northwestern ace, and Bill Karr, who hailed from West Virginia, are the other wingmen upon whom Coach George Halas may depend...MUSSO WEIGHS 270: Halas is bringing four tackles to Green Bay, and two of them are old and dependable veterans of the gridiron wars. Link Lyman, once of Nebraska, weighs 246 pounds and is a great teammate for the old "bull o' the line", George Musso, who once played for Millikin and now weighs an impressive 270 pounds. Art Buss, 218 pounds, who was a teammate of Frank Butler at Michigan State, and Ted Rosequist, 220 pound ace of Ohio State's Buckeyes, have been added to the Chicago squad as tackle candidates. Halas' four guards are expected to be none too man for the line smashes of Hinkle, Monnett and company. The Bears have four veterans of the professional game upon whom to depend; Kiesling, once of St. Thomas, who weighs 262, and who was imported from the Cardinals; Joe Zeller, former Packer who tips the scales at 196 and starred at Indiana; Joe Kopcha, Bear veteran who weighs 230 and came from Chattanooga; and Jules Carlson, experienced in the ways of the forward play, who played at Oregon State before the days of Tar Schwammel and is good for 209 pounds after dinner...HAVE FOUR CENTERS: Packer thrusts at the center of the line will be met by four pivotmen, two of whom have had considerable pro experience. The veteran pair include Bert Pearson, of Kansas State, a 210 pound star, and the celebrated Cookie Miller, who always is outstanding against the Packers. Miller did his undergraduate playing for Purdue, and weighs 204 pounds. Ed Kawal played center for the Bears last season, later going to St. Louis, whence he was recalled when the Chicagoans needed reinforcements for the line. He once played at Illinois, and weighs 205 pounds. The fourth pivot prospect is 206-pound Art Krueger of Marquette, who is breaking into the professional game this season. That takes care of the line. There is speed and power in the Bears' backfield, as every follower of the team is well aware. The halfbacks are led by the ancient veteran of the pastime, Harold (Red) Grange, still wearing his famous No. 77, as he did in former days at Illinois...SISK AND RONZANI: Two Marquette veterans, Johnny Sisk and Gene Ronzani, are halfbacks upon whom Halas placed the greatest stress. Ronzani scored one winning touchdown against the Packers at Chicago last year, and has to be watched every second he is in the game. Sisk is the former "big train" of the Golden Avalanche. Feathers rounds out the halfback crew. Handling the quarterback assignment Sunday will be either Keith Molesworth, Monmouth ace who wrecked the Bays on a couple of occasions last season, or Carl Brumbaugh, Florida star who has performed several seasons on the pro gridiron. Other quarterbacks who may get the nod during the contest are George Corbett,

New Bear Star

BEATTIE FEATHERS

One of the new Chicago Bear football players who will bear watching Sunday by the Packers is Beattie Feathers, former Tennessee halfback rated as one of the best open field runners in college football last season.

a speedy boy who formerly played for Millikin, and Bernie Masterson, the Nebraska flash, who is breaking into the game this season...THREE HUSKY FULLBACKS: The line-battering assignments will rest upon three veterans of the professional game, the best known being Bronko Nagurski, big No. 3 of the Bears' backfield. Bronko's last appearance on the Green Bay gridiron was an unhappy one for the former Minnesota star, as he was helped falteringly from the field after a collision with Clark Hinkle. The big Nag weighs 230 pounds, according to the Chicago publicity sheet. He weighed about 215 last year on the same list. Jack Manders is another Minnesota ace who specializes in all departments of goal kicking and provided the extra points and field goals which whipped the Packers a couple of times last year. The other fullback is Paul Franklin, who played at Franklin college, and weighs 205 pounds.

THURSDAY NIGHT DEADLINE ON TICKET RESERVATIONS

SEPT 18 (Green Bay) - All reserved seat tickets for the Packer-Bear game at City stadium Sunday that have not been called for by Thursday night will be placed on sale, it was announced today by officials at the Packer ticket office. With the great demand for tickets, the Packer management wants to be certain by that time just what seats have been taken in order that others may be put on sale and not held until Sunday on a chance they won't be called for by prospective purchasers. "If we know for certain just what tickets are not picked up by Thursday night we can make sure that they will be placed on sale," E.A. Spachmann, ticket sales director, said today. "Many times we reserve many tickets and they aren't called for. In that way we lose the sales and if they hadn't been on the reserved list we could have sold them to other buyers. By Thursday night we want to know just where we are at and what we have left."...PLENTY OF GOOD SEATS: Despite the rumors about town that the game already is a sellout, ticket officials declared today that hundreds of good seats have not been sold as yet. Although it is expected that a rush will develop within the next 48 hours, those who intend to witness the contest still have time to get good seats if they buy their tickets at once. Interest in the game is running high throughout the city and Wisconsin and it is thought by game time Sunday another jammed house will see a continuation of the Packer-Bear rivalry that dates back into the dusty past. Tickets have already started to move in some volume but the big push around the Columbus club ticket office is not looked for until midweek...CALL ADAMS 6180: Persons wishing to reserve tickets by telephone are asked to call the ticket office in the Columbus Community club as soon as possible. The number is Adams 6180.

BEARS START HARD WORK FOR PACKER CONTEST SUNDAY

SEPT 18 (Chicago) - The Bears yesterday began intensive training for their first game of the National league season with the Packers at Green Bay Sunday. The squad engaged in a drill that took the better part of three hours at Mills stadium. Gene Ronzani was absent, due to a leg injury, but it is not considered serious enough to prevent his being available for the Packer battle. Coach Halas tried Ted Rosequist at end in the practice game at Winona, Minn., last week, but decided to shift him to tackle, where he probably will be used exclusively. It also was the plan to use Molesworth at half, but with Corbett showing better than ever at the position, Halas will start Keith at quarterback along with Brumbaugh and Masterson. Assistant Coach Laurie Walquist looked over the Packers in their victory over Philadelphia Sunday at Green Bay and reported the Wisconsin team to be in excellent physical shape. He was impressed with the change in the line, and said that Art Schwammel looked the part of a real star. Bob Monnett's all around play also was passed along to Coach Halas.

DEADLINE ON BEAR GAME RESERVATIONS IS THURSDAY NIGHT

SEPT 19 (Green Bay) - Football fans who have ordered tickets for the Packer-Chicago Bear game here Sunday are again reminded that all reservations uncalled for Thursday night will be placed on sale Friday morning at the Columbus club office. While the sale continues to gain momentum, there are hundreds of good seats still available but those who are planning to attend Sunday's gridiron classic are advised to get their tickets as soon as possible.

PACKERS ARE 1 GAME BEHIND CHICAGO BEARS

SEPT 20 (Green Bay) - The NFL holds no more traditional rivalry that that between the Green Bay Packers and Chicago Bears, which will be renewed at City Stadium next Sunday afternoon. When the teams clash Sunday, they will be meeting for the 30th time since 1921. During this long series the Bears have won 13 games, the Packers have taken 12, and four have ended in ties. The Packers hold a slight margin in total points scored, 209 to 206...THREE GAMES EACH YEAR: Starting with one game per season, growing to two games and finally being enlarged to three, the annual series between Green Bay and Chicago's Bear has become a triple-edged highlight of the National league season. The clean sweep made by the Bruins last year gave the Chicagoans the edge in total games won for the first time since '29 when the Bays launched a victory string that lasted until late in the 1930 season. The Packers hold one string of seven consecutive wins over their bitter rivals, while the Bears' best string is the unbroken four straight which was started late in 1932. The worst licking by the Bays is the 25 to 0 trimming of 1929, while the Bears' best effort were 21 to 0 beating to the Packers in 1925 and 1930. The start of the long series, back in 1921, was highly suspicious - for the Bears. The Chicago team soaked Green Bay 21 to 0, taking advantage of the fact that several of the Packers were "unable to play" just before game time...DIDN'T CLASH IN 1922: The team didn't clash in 1922, but they were back at it the following season, when the Bears took a 3 to 0 decision at old Bellevue park. Myrt Basing fumbled at the wrong time, and Joie Sternaman booted a field goal to account for the win. The rivalry already was planted, and the club managers decided to risk scheduling two games instead of one in 1924. The team divided the contests, the Packers taking the first here, 5 to 0, on Cub Buck's field goal and George Trafton's toss for a safety, and the Bears annexing the second, 3 to 0, Sternaman kicking a field goal after Dutch Hendrian's fumble. Again in 1925, the rivals divided. The Packers won at Green Bay, 14 to 10, the victory margin coming from Charlie Mathys' touchdown pass to Verne Lewellen. At Chicago the Bears handed the Packers one of the two worst defeats in the series history, winning 21 to 0. Red Grange, who has just finished his college career, sat on the bench for the Chicagoans...LIDBERG SCORES FOR

THE 'BIG NAG' READY TO GO

BRONKO NAGURSKI

The National Professional Football league boast several hard-hitting backfield stars, but few have the drive or power of Bronko Nagurski, the big fullback from Minnesota, now with the Chicago Bears. He will be in the lineup tomorrow against the Green Bay Packers.

PACKERS: It looked like an indefinite series without a tie, but the first game of the 1926 series wound up in a deadlock. The Packers got the edge on the Bears in Chicago but the Bruins rallied to cop a 19 to 13 decision. Lidberg scored early for the Packers, but Hanny caught a forward pass from Paddy Driscoll and knotted the count. Driscoll gave the Bears a lead on his field goal, but Lewellen scooped up a fumble by Paddy and ran 40 yards for a touchdown. Driscoll grabbed back the lead with a field goal, a touchdown run and an extra point kick. The final contest of 1926 was played at Soldier field, Chicago, with Sid Purdy getting off a 50-yard dropkick to give the Packers a 3-all tie. The Bears were the whole show in 1927, winning two games. At Green Bay the Bears triumphed 7 to 6, and at Chicago they won 14 to 6. This was the game in which Packer fans claimed Lewellen was pulled back after he crossed the enemy goal line...PACKERS WIN TWO: The Packers were gathering their forces in their championship drives during the 1928 season, when they beat the Bears twice and tied them once. Larry O'Boyle missed an extra point kick by inches, and the Green Bay contest wound up 12 to 12, but the Packers came back with two victories at the Windy City, 16 to 6 and 6 to 0. The Packers crammed three shutouts down the throats of the Bears in 1929, their most successful season against the Bruins. Marching to a national championship, the Bays took advantage of a weak Bear eleven on three occasions, winning 23 to 0, 14 to 0 and 25 to 0, the last game being the worst defeat ever registered in the Packer-Bear series. The Packers repeated their championship stunt in 1930, when they nipped the Bears for two out of three. The Green Bay contest went to the Bays by 7 to 0, Lewellen getting the touchdown and Dunn booting the extra point. In the first game at Chicago, the Bays won 13 to 12, Lewellen and Blood scoring touchdowns and Dunn getting the extra point that spelled victory. A Packer victory string that had extended to seven games was snapped late in 1930, when the Bears climbed on the Bays for a 21 to 0 decision...LEWELLEN AND DUNN: The first game of 1931 went to the Packers, with Lewellen and Dunn repeating their stunt of the previous season. It was Mike Michalske's day in the game at Chicago, Mike running almost the length of the field for a touchdown after intercepting a pass, and the Packers won, 6 to 2. The finale of the season was a 7 to 0 classic at Chicago, Johnny Blood scored a touchdown, but Lintzenich got one for the Bears, and Tackwell added the extra point. It is interesting to note that in but seven of the 29 contests, the Packers have failed to score, while the Bears have been without points in nine games. The only scoreless tie of the series was played in 1932 at Green Bay. The Packers came back to win at Chicago when Tom Nash blocked a punt for a safety, 2 to 0, but the Bears won the third game at Chicago, 9 to 0, Engebretsen getting a placement and Nagurski galloping 40 yards for a touchdown...HARD LUCK SERIES: The Packers played the original hard luck series with the Bears last season, when the Bruins swept three games, two with brilliant last minute rallies. The Bruins scored twice in the last five minutes to win the game here, 14 to 7. Goldenberg had given the Packers a touchdown in the third period, with Monnett kicking the extra point. Late in the fourth period, Hewitt to Johnsos, gave the Bears a touchdown, and Manders tied the score with an extra point kick. In the last minutes of play Hewitt blocked Herber's punt, recovered the ball and ran across the goal from the five yard line for a touchdown. Manders booted the point. At Chicago, Blood's touchdown and Monnett's extra point gave the Bays a lead, but in the late minutes a lateral-forward, Molesworth to Grange to Johnsos, scored a touchdown, and Manders kicked the extra point. Then Manders got a 30 yard field goal to give the Bears a 10 to 7 decision. The Packers pulled a real iron man stunt in the third game last year, only 13 men playing, nine of them throughout the contest. Hinkle returned the opening kickoff 92 yards, but failed to score when he was dragged down on the Bears' four yard line. A pass from Molesworth to Ronzani gave the Bears a touchdown, and Manders kicked the extra point. In the third period, Monnett took Molesworth's punt and returned it 92 yards for a touchdown. Zeller blocked Grove's attempt for the extra point.

BECKER WILL APPEAR WITH BEAR ELEVEN

SEPT 20 (Green Bay) - Although seasoned veterans of the Chicago Bears' football team will be under the close scrutiny of a capacity crowd at City stadium Sunday afternoon, when the Bears meet the Green Bay Packers, the work of none of the visitors will attract more attention than that of Wayland Becker, East High graduate and more recently a star of Marquette university's Golden Avalanche. All indications point to one of the largest home crowds in Packer football history. Tickets are selling fast and thousands of out of town gridiron enthusiasts will be here Sunday. Despite the extraordinary demand for tickets, there are still a good number of reserved seats in the north stands available besides room for some 1,800 spectators in the spacious west end stand which is the general admission sector. The deadline on uncalled for reservations expires tonight and orders not picked up will be placed in the open sale Friday morning at the Football headquarters in the Columbus club...MORRIS TO REFEREE: Officials for Sunday's game, the 30th renewal of the Packer-Bear series, will be Meyer Morris, Rock Island, referee; Gordon McNutt, Milwaukee, umpire; K.M. Harris, Duluth, head linesman; and G.A. Brown, Kankakee, Ill., field judge. All are experienced professional football officials. Harris at one time starred with the Duluth Eskimos of Ernie Nevers, and was an official in last year's Bear game here...LONG PROMINENT HERE: Getting back to the Beckers, Wayland and his twin brother, Warren, now starring for Coach Eddie Kotal's Stevens Point Teachers college eleven, are the youngest of a Green Bay athletic dynasty, which has been prominent for the past decade in the city's amateur and professional sports life. Wayland and Warren, with a well-known trio of older brothers, are sons of Mrs. Emma Becker, 1427 Kurtz-ave., who probably is as well informed on the subject of sports as any woman in Green Bay. Her five boys have surrounded her with an atmosphere of athletics which is unique in the city's sports circles, and she displays a considerable knowledge of all its branches...FAMILY OF ATHLETES: To begin with, there is Albert, Jr., familiarly known as "Boy" Becker, who is employed by a Green Bay paper mill in Toronto, Canada. Boy attended East High school for two years, was a great bowler, and saw some service with the Green Sox baseball team, both as an outfielder and catcher. His bowling activities saw him performing year after year in the city's Major league, an activity which he still continues in his new home. Boy was followed by Eldon, "Skimmer" to followers of the present day Green Sox club. Skimmer was stationed in the outfield for Manager Ben Rosenberg's pennant contenders this season, and he is rated one of the best flyhawks ever turned out by a Green Bay team. He also attended high school for two years, but wasn't much interested in football. He leaned strongly to bowling, still performs in the Major league, and is a former Wisconsin all-events champion. The third Becker to achieve athletic prominence was Frank, called "Tape" in this much-nicknamed family. Tape was an all-conference center on East High's team during the Wiley era, graduated from the school, played amateur baseball and likes to bowl. His diamond work has been mostly for the Platten-Blatz club...STARRED FOR EAST HIGH: The twins, Warren and Wayland, provide the present episode in the Becker saga. Both played sensationally for the Red Devils of the 1927 to 1929 period. Both were mentioned time and time again for all-conference honors and both assisted in the Red Devil championship drives of 1928 and 1929. Wayland's favorite position was left end, according to his mother, who knows quite a bit about how that position should be played. He continued at the spot at Marquette and did all the university team's punting. His work in the recent game between the Chicago Bears and the All Stars was one of the bright spots of an otherwise drab Bear performance. There will be plenty of Beckers in the stands Sunday, wishing Wayland luck in his professional gridiron venture...PRACTICED TWICE WEDNESDAY: The Packers went through a double practice session yesterday, followed by a stiff skull drill aimed to clean up any misapprehension which may exist concerning the efficiency of the Chicago Bears' personnel. Coach E.L. Lambeau is wasting no effort to bring the Bays to their peak, as officials of the Green Bay Football corporation regard Sunday's battle as one of the most crucial of the 1934 season.

WAYLAND BECKER THIRD GREEN BAY PLAYER TO APPEAR AGAINST BAYS

SEPT 20 (Green Bay) - When Wayland Becker steps into action for the Bears here Sunday, it will be only the third time since 1921 that a prominent Green Bay gridder has taken the field here against the Packers. In 1931 Red Bultman was in the Brooklyn lineup that took it on the chin at Joannes park in a tilt with Coach Lambeau's squad. Red joined the Packers in 1932 and is still going strong. Doc Young's Hammond, Ind., pro squad lost to the Packers here in 1921 by the score of 14 to 7 in a game on the old field at Joannes park. The Hoosiers' quarterback was Charlie Mathys, who had just completed his college course via Ripon and Indiana. Mathys, who is now vice president of the Green Bay Football corporation, joined the Packers the following year, and saw active service on the squad until midseason in 1926 when he voluntarily retired from the gridiron.

PACKER SEATS MOVING FAST FOR TWO TILTS

SEPT 21 (Milwaukee) - The Green Bay Packers evidently are going to draw heavily in Milwaukee this season, as 500 tickets for the game Sunday with the Chicago Bears at Green Bay, placed on sale this week in the Journal lobby, already have been practically cleaned out, and almost as many tickets have been sold for the game at State Fair Park the following Sunday with the New York Giants. The Journal, however, has more than 8,000 good seats on sale for the charity game. The Packers face two stiff games in a row. Sunday's game will be a renewal of probably the greatest rivalry in the pro football league. The champion Bears made a clean sweep of last season's three games and took the lead over the Packers, 13 victories to 13, in their 29-game series. The teams have played four ties. The Packers, however, still hold a slight edge in scoring, 209 points to 206. The grueling battle expected with the Bears should prove no handicap for the Packers in the Journal's Christmas fund game here, as the Giants also face a tough contest Sunday - a harder game, in fact, than Green Bay faces. The New York squad was en route Friday to Detroit, where they play the Detroit Tigers. Detroit has the powerful Portsmouth team of last year, bolstered by the return of the famous Dutch Clark, who was the sensation of the league before he quit pro football to coach in the Rocky Mountain conference. Several Giants are recuperating from attacks of intestinal fly and will be held out of the Detroit game to get in good shape for the Milwaukee game. The new

EXPECT RECORD CROWD SUNDAY FOR GRID TILT

SEPT 21 (Green Bay) - Apparently the largest football crowd in the history of Green Bay will witness Sunday's game between the Packers and Chicago Bears at the City stadium. The kickoff is at 2 p.m. The usual brisk advance ticket sale for a Packer-Bear game, experienced earlier than usual this season, has turned into an insistent demand for the gridiron pasteboards, with every possibility that an "S.R.O." sign may be placed outside City stadium before Sunday's opening whistle. There are still a number of $1 and $1.25 seats available, in addition to the west end bleachers, which seat about 1,800 people who are lucky enough to grab general admission tickets. These ducats are now being sold at the Packer ticket office at the Columbus club...ARRIVE AT NIGHT: The national champions will arrive Saturday evening at 10:20 o'clock over the Milwaukee Road, and will make their headquarters at the Beaumont hotel. They will be followed Sunday morning by a special train carrying 150 whooping Chicago fans, who will leave the Windy City at 7:45 o'clock Sunday morning and will arrive here about 11 o'clock. Assistant Coach Larry Walquist of the Chicago team, who is handling the excursion, has arranged for buses and taxis to meet the fans at the station, take them to the Beaumont hotel for dinner, and carry them to the City stadium before game time. The Bears' special will leave here at 7 o'clock Sunday evening, arriving in Chicago at 11. There probably will be plenty of hot stove sessions at the hotel Saturday night, for Capt. Red Smith's Madison Blues baseball team will be quartered there also. The Blues will arrive in state on Saturday, prepared to rest up before tackling the Green Sox Sunday morning in the first of the State league playoff series...SCOUTED PACKER GAME: Walquist scouted last week's Green Bay-Philadelphia game, and had lots to tell Boss George Halas when he returned to Chicago. Despite his report, which gave the Packers plenty of credit for the victory, the national champions appear confident of taking their 14th victory from the Packers since 1921. Eighteen colleges and universities are represented on the Bear squad this season, with Marquette leading. Three former members of the Golden Avalanche, Gene Ronzani, Johnny Sisk and Wayland Becker, will be seen in action here Sunday. Illinois, Millikin, Minnesota and Nebraska each have two players, the Gopher representatives being the redoubtable Manders and Nagurski. The average weight of the Bears' squad is 207 pounds. George Musso, giant lineman who weighs 268, is the heavies of the crew, and Keith Molesworth, 168, is the lightest. The average age is 27 years, Link Lyman, 36, being the grandfather of the squad, and Bernie Masterson, 22, the baby. The average height is 6 feet 3/4 inches, with Ted Rosequist's 6 feet 4 1/2 inches topping the squad...MANDERS LED SCORING: Jack Manders, who played his first season with the Bears last year, led the team in scoring without making a single touchdown. His gifted toe accounted for 29 points. He did not miss a point after touchdown all season, and failed only once to make good on a field goal. Bear football players who captained their teams in college are Red Grange, Illinois; George Corbett, Millikin; Walt Kiesling, St. Thomas; Joe Zeller, Indiana; Joe Kopcha, Chattanooga; Ookie Miller, Purdue; Zuck Carlson, Oregon State; Johnny Sisk, Marquette, and Gene Ronzani, Marquette.

ROLLIE HALFMAN TO PLAY AT ST. LOUIS

SEPT 21 (Milwaukee) - Rollie Halfman, former Marquette football star who recently tried out with the Green Bay Packers, today arrived in St. Louis to cast his lot with the St. Louis Gunners pro football team.

BEARS DRILL THREE HOURS

SEPT 21 (Chicago) - In addition to three hour drills at Mills stadium each morning this week, the Bears go into a huddle with Coach Halas in the afternoon to talk over the opening National league game with the Packers at Green Bay Sunday afternoon. Assistant Coach Laurie Walquist watched the Packers last Sunday and came back with their formations, which were discussed in the after practice sessions. Walquist was much impressed with the condition of the Packers and declared the Wisconsin team has a great kicker in fullback Johnston, a 200 pounder who came up from the St. Louis Gunners.

RENEW RIVALRY IN LEAGUE TUSSLE AT CITY STADIUM

Chicago Eleven Has Many Veterans of Championship Team Back Again to Play Against Green Bay

PACKERS AND BEARS WILL CLASH SUNDAY

SEPT 22 (Green Bay) - A football rivalry that takes its place as one of the oldest in the midwest will be renewed here Sunday with the Green Bay Packers and Chicago Bears sharing leading roles. The curtain will go up for the first act in the 1934 drama at the City stadium here at 2 o'clock. Fighting it out for professional honors in the first meeting of the year, the Chicago and Green Bay men will have many old scores to settle and new laurels to seek. The winner, undoubtedly, will be the team to beat for the western title in the NFL. Packer-Bear games in the past have been great engagements. They have featured powerful lines against powerful lines; hard hitting backs against just as hard hitting backs. It has been a case of dog-eat-dog in every game played between the two teams. Indications are that this year will prove no exception...SEVERAL NEW MEN: The Bear club has practically the same team that carried it to a National league championship last year. In addition are several new men who are making determined efforts to force veterans out of the picture and take the places. Green Bay, likewise, has many of last year's men back again and also has a fine crop of promising recruits, including a few who already have proven their ability against the Bears. These are the three new players of the Packers: Joe Laws, Bob Jones and Tar Schwammel, who performed with the All-Stars in the game against the Bears a few weeks ago. In the series of games played between the Bruins and Packers over a 13-year stretch, the Chicagoans have a slight edge. They have won 13, while the Green Bay team won 12 and four games ended in tie scores. One string of seven straight consecutive victories is held by the Packers, while the best the Bears can boast is a run of four straight - three last year and the final of 1932. In all games the Packers have scored 209 points, the Bears 206, which gives an indication of the closeness of the games...MANY VETS ON TEAM: Leading the Bear attack will be such men as Keith Molesworth, Gene Ronanzi, Johnny Sisk, Jack Manders, Harold (Red) Grange, Beattie Feathers and Bronko Nagurski. In that group alone, the Bears have men who can do just about everything called up to do - and do it well. On the line are such stellar veterans as Link Lyman, Carlson, Kopcha, Ookie Miller, Kiesling, Musso and Rosequist and a pair of the best ends in the circuit in Bill Hewitt and Luke Johnsos. Last year Hewitt was the sensation of the pro league. Time after time he smashed through interference to known down ball carriers. Against Green Bay, he almost single-handed beat the Packers in two of the three games, figuring in brilliant last minute rallies that brought victories. Hewitt is sure to have his hands full Sunday, however, as every move he makes will be watched. He probably will get his share of tackle, as he is too good a man to be stopped no matter how much he's watched but he isn't likely to run wild as he did last year. To offset what Hewitt and his mates will do, the Packers will have a powerful line and as fleet a set of backs as ever wore Green Bay uniforms ready for action. New men have been coming to the front rapidly recently, leading to the belief that the Packers are quite a bit stronger than they were last year. In the backfield the work of Joe Laws, Casper and Witte, among the new men, and Bob Monnett, Hinkle, Goldenberg and Grove, veterans, has been more than satisfactory...IN GOOD CONDITION: Only in one department - and that an important one - have the Packers looked a bit weak. It has been in the timing of plays. However, long practice sessions this week have served to better this condition, and plays should click Sunday with machine-like precision. The Packers came through the opening game with Philadelphia in good shape and at present the team's only casualty is Lavvie Dilweg, veteran end, who suffered a severe bruise on his left leg in a scrimmage two weeks ago. The injury has been responding to treatment, however, and Dilweg may be able to play in Sunday's engagement. The coach will have four other ends, three veterans and a new man, for use at the wing position, but could use Dilweg to advantage because of his skill and experience against tough opponents. While one of the largest crowds in Packer history is expected, due to the enlargement of the stands last year, there are still a few good seats available. Fans are urged to pick them up at once, however, to avoid last minute disappointments.

25 BEARS INVADE GREEN BAY FOR LEAGUE OPENER

SEPT 22 (Chicago) - A squad of 25 Bears will leave for Green Bay at 6:05 o'clock this evening over the Milwaukee road for their opening game in the NFL with the Packers tomorrow afternoon....FEATHERS TO START: Of the new men in the league, only one was named in the prospective starting lineup by Halas - Beattie Feathers, the halfback from the University of Tennessee. He will open at left half. Walt Kiesling, a veteran post-graduate linesman who came to the Bears from the Cardinals this season, was named at left guard. The return of Bill Karr to condition was a cheerful note to the Bear headquarters. Bill will be at right end...FOUR NEW PACKERS PLAY: Coach Curly Lambeau of Green Bay indicated he will start four new candidates who played in the league opener with Philadelphia last week. Green Bay won, 19 to 6. Jorgenson of St. Mary's at left tackle, Jones of Indiana at right guard, Schwammel of Oregon State at right tackle and Laws of Iowa at right half, are on the opening list. Halas announced the sale of Dick Davis, Temple tackle, to Cincinnati yesterday.

EXPECT LARGE CROWD AT BAY

SEPT 22 (Green Bay) - Large crowds of sport fans are expected to fill Green Bay on Sunday, for over the weekend the city will be the sports center of Badgerdom. Not only will the world champion Chicago Bears come northward to battle the Green Bay Packers, but the Madison Blues baseball club will also be in town for the first of a series of three games with the Green Sox to decide the championship in the State Baseball League. So that the two contests will not conflict the baseball game will be staged at 10:30 a.m. at Joannes Park. Under ordinary circumstances the game should be over by 12:30 which will give the fans plenty of time to walk across the street to the City Stadium where the football game takes place at 2 p.m. In case the fans do not wish to go downtown for a bite to eat, concession men have arranged to furnish plate lunches on the grounds at bargain prices. Several hundred Madison fans will be included in the large numbers expected to attend the twin bill. The Green Sox and the Madison Blues have been the two outstanding clubs in the league this season, the Green Sox winning the first half pennant and the Madison team the closing lap. The Packers and Bears are also the greatest traditional rivals to the National Football league and their contest this fall will undoubtedly go a long way in deciding two of the top posts in the league standings. In the baseball game, Madison will offer three pitches to the Green Bay hitters. There is Bill Goff, the easy-working right-hander who is slated to take the slab for the Blues, although Coach Eddie Lenahan may also substitute Butch Krueger, who is also known in a golfing way or Lefty Eckert, premier Milwaukee Triple A hurler. Green Bay has two outstanding pitchers available - Johnny Rowe who goes to the Milwaukee Brewers next year and Joe Petcka, one of the outstanding left-handers in the league. The Bears bring to Green Bay a lineup studded with names of last year's college stars and names of outstanding players in the pro league circuit. Among the former are Beattie Feathers, Wayland Becker and Ted Rosequist, while among the old faces in pro ball are Red Grange, Bronko Nagurski, Carl Brumbaugh, Bill Hewitt and Jack Manders. The game is the opening of the league season for the Bears, and they are anxious to get off to a good start in their three game series with the Packers this year.

MAYBE I'M WRONG

SEPT 23 (Milwaukee Journal - R.G. Lynch) - Milwaukee is going to have a good chance this season to show what it thinks of big time professional football. Incipient efforts have been made in the past to give this city a berth in the national pro league, but always without adequate backing. I have a hunch that Milwaukee will have another chance in the not too far distant future, as it is likely that the league will force the removal of the Green Bay Packers' franchise to a city of larger

REPORT AT NOON

All attendants at the City stadium must be on hand sharply at noon Sunday. This includes gate-men, ushers, ticket sellers and the Legion police.

A record breaking crowd is forecast for the Bear game, and the Packer management wants to have the stage set early to handle the capacity throng with the least possible confusion.

population, and Milwaukee is the natural spot. I don't mean that Green Bay will lose the Packers next year or the year after, but eventually I am afraid that it will happen. The transfer of the Portsmouth franchise to Detroit was the handwriting on the wall. The Bay is the only small town remaining in the national league. The big towns are certain - and soon - to demand that only big towns have membership in the circuit. The Packers will play here, at State Fair park, three times this season. The first appearance will be next Sunday, with the New York Giants as the opposition in a regular league game. They caught the Packers on an off day at Borchert Field last season without making a first down, gave Curly Lambeau's eleven a beating. I thought, that day, that the Packers were a little anxious, trying to do their stuff in a big way for their neighbors. I know that Lambeau and his men will come here Sunday determined to wipe out that bad impression. Anybody that goes out to State Fair park for the game is pretty certain to see a real battle. The other Packers games here later will be with the Chicago Cardinals and the Chicago Bears, two of the best clubs in the league. The games will be worth every cent of the admission price. I believe Milwaukee football fans will turn out in force and show the league moguls that this city can and will support big time football. Just in case that franchise is ever taken away from Green Bay.

SELLOUT EXPECTED AS BEARS INVADE BAYS

SEPT 23 (Green Bay) - The fences probably will bulge a bit here Sunday when the Green Bay Packers entertain their old foes, the Chicago Bears, for games between these old professional gridiron rivals usually are sellouts. Green Bay fans are looking forward to the game somewhat like a cat licking its chops while it eyes a dish of cream. The impression prevails here that the Bears have carried their veterans a little too long. The point at which to unload old timers and rebuild with younger men calls for nice judgment. Curly Lambeau, Packer coach, has been replacing worn cogs with new material for several years and Packer followers have a hunch that the machine will be one of the most powerful in the league this season. Bob Monnett, the former Spartan, gave an indication of what may be expected of him after a year of seasoning when he tore loose against the Philadelphia team last Sunday. Clark Hinkle is right in his prime, Grove and Bruder are dangerous men and Joe Laws has fitted into the backfield with unusual felicity for a brand new man. Goldenberg has been working at quarter and Herber at left half. The line is a well balanced aggregation of veterans and husky newcomers. The Bears are one up on the Packers in the oldest rivalry in the pro league - their three victories last year gave them 13 to the Bays' 12 - but in Green Bay the folks have a hunch that the series will be all square after Sunday's game. Since the old Packer favorite, Red Dunn, recently picked the Bears to finish no better than sixth in the league, the expectation of victory has been enhanced. Wayland Becker, a Green Bay boy, will be in the Bears lineup at end against the hometown team. He was graduated from East Green Bay High school before he went to Marquette University.

PACKERS, BEARS RENEW GRID RIVALRY TODAY

SEPT 23 (Green Bay) - Tomorrow afternoon the Packers will attempt to make it 13 victories over the Chicago Bears when the two teams meet for the thirtieth time since 1921. At present the Chicagoans have won 13, the Packers 12, and four games ended in ties. The kickoff will take place at 2 o'clock. Sports fans who take in the Bear-Packer contest will also have an opportunity of witnessing the first game in the State League championship playoff series. Madison, second half winner, and Green Bay, first half champion, will meet at Green Sox park, a 10 minute walk from Packer stadium, at 10:30 o'clock in the morning. One string of seven consecutive victories is held by the Green Bay team over the Bears while the most protracted string the Bears could couple for themselves was four straight. Total points show a difference of only three, the Packers having counted 209 while the Bears have 206. Whenever the Bears and Packers get together on the gridiron the fur starts to fly and Sunday's game should prove no exception to the rule. A close, hard, smashing struggle combined with brilliant pass plays should be furnished by the professionals. As each man on the team came out of the game with Philadelphia in good shape, Coach Lambeau will be able to pit his greatest strength against the invaders. Joe Laws, who was removed from the game after he collided with Swede Hanson, has recovered from the bad effects and is set to meet the Bears for the second time this season. Joe played against the Chicagoans as a member of the All-Stars on the night of August 31, as did "Tar" Schwammel, giant Packer lineman. While the Bears have several new men, that they will rely on their veterans to carry the brunt of the battle is a certainty. In the backfield, Nagurski, Molesworth, Corbett, Sisk, Ronzani, Brumbaugh, Franklin, Manders, Red Grange, Feathers and Masterson, the latter two recruits, will carry the ball. In the line the veterans include "Link" Lyman, Musso, Pearson, Zeller, Kawal, Carlson, Karr, Johnsos, Kiesling, Kopcha, Hewitt and Miller. Four recruit linemen are with the Bears this year. They are Buss, formerly of Michigan State; Becker, one time Marquette star and a resident of Green Bay; Krueger, Marquette's highly touted center of last year, and Rosequist, formerly of Ohio State.

BEARS TO BATTLE GREEN BAY TODAY IN LEAGUE START

SEPT 23 (Chicago) - The Chicago Bears will open the defense of their NFL title against the Green Bay Packers tomorrow afternoon. Advance ticket sales indicate a capacity crowd will pack City stadium. It will be the Packers' second league game of the season. Last Sunday, they defeated Philadelphia, 19 to 6. Strengthened by the acquisition of several outstanding college players of last year, notably Joe Laws of Iowa and Ade Schwammel of Oregon State, the Packers have hopes of handing the Bears the first defeat since the early part of last season. The Bears have had three games thus far, playing a scoreless tie with the College All-Stars in Chicago, overwhelming the Chicago Tigers, 41 to 0, and beating La Crosse, 25 to 0...FEW CHANGES IN LINEUP: The Bears arrived in Green Bay Saturday tonight. Coach George Halas plans to sent the squad through a short workout Sunday morning. With the exception of Beattie Feathers, new halfback from the University of Tennessee, Walter Kiesling, veteran guard, and Al Kawal, center, the same lineup that started most of the Bears' game last season will be used against the Packers.
