

Preseason: Green Bay Packers 19, Minneapolis Marines 0 Sunday September 16th 1928 (at Green Bay)

PACKERS · TURN BACK MARINES 19-0

GAME RECAP (GREEN BAY PRESS-GAZETTE)

(GREEN BAY) - Smiling, little Eddie Kotal helped show Herb Joesting and the rest of the Minneapolis eleven how forward passes should be caught Sunday when he picked tosses out of the air to run for touchdowns on two occasions and aided the Packers in running up a 19 to 0 victory over the Marines. Dick O'Donnell also aided in giving the Marines an aerial lesson when he likewise speared a tossed ball that he ran with over the goal line. While Kotal and O'Donnell looked good on the aerial plays, the rest of the Packer team continually broke up Marine plays and held Joesting and his fellow backfield men to few gains from the scrimmage line. It was an impressive start of the professional game before nearly 5,000 fans, the largest opening day crowd in the history of the sport here. All of the new men were given a chance to play during the contest and acquitted themselves in great shape.

SCORE IN FIRST QUARTER

The first Packer touchdown came shortly after the start of the game. After an exchange of punts, the Bays took the ball on the Marines' 45-yard line and completed their first pass, O'Donnell receiving it and taking it to the 30-yard line. Another pass was tried, Lewellen to Kotal, and Eddie ran over the goal line for the first count of the season. Dunn's try to kick goal was blocked. The second touchdown came in the second quarter following a few line plays by both teams with neither having much of an advantage when the Bays took the ball on their own 42-yard line after an exchange of punts. A forward pass, Lewellen to Dunn, then put the ball on the Marine 39-yard line. A line play failed to gain so Lewellen dropped back on a fake end run and tossed the oval to O'Donnell, who leaped high into the air to drag it down and run for the second touchdown. In the final quarter, Eddie Kotal came back in the game again to cross the goal line for the third touchdown. Taking the ball on the Marines' 45-yard line after several line plays had not netted either team much yardage. Then another forward pass was tried and Eddie had to leap high to drag down the oval hurled by Lewellen. It was a remarkable catch and Eddie dodged by Ursella, the Marine safety man, and traveled unhindered to the goal line for the last count of the game. Dunn's try for extra point went wild.

GOOD ON DEFENSIVE

On the defensive, the Packer squad was particularly good and not until the third quarter were the Marines able to gain a first down, and that was through a forward pass attack. During the entire game, the Marines made but two first downs. The open game proved to be the best bet for the Packers as few gains could be made through the Marine line. The pass attack bewildered the Marines throughout the game and not until the last quarter were they able to solve it effectively. Previous to that time, some passes by Packers would have been good for additional touchdowns, had they had better direction. Of the new backfield men, Lollar and Marks looked particularly impressive. Lollar was great at boring in and blocking. He should prove a valuable man at backing up the line in future contests. Marks showed great shiftiness and speed on the offense and was in almost every play on the defense. O'Boyle showed he could pick his way through holes well and backed up the line in good order. Estes did not have much of a chance to show what he could do as the line faltered on two occasions when he carried the ball and he was downed before he had a chance to get going.

GRIFFIN LOOKS GOOD

Griffin at center was a stonewall in himself. The Marines weren't able to gain a yard through his position. He also covered punts well. Ashmore and Bowdoin also took out their men well on the offense and broke through on the defense. Webber at an end also did a lot of good defensive work as did Darling who took the other wing berth when Dilweg was out. Herb Joesting showed some of the form that made him All-American fullback for two years when he broke through the scrimmage line on frequent occasions to break up Packer plays. He wasn't able to do much on the offense, however as only on two occasions was he able to make more than three yards on line bucks, although he played the entire game. Walt Kiesling, Cleve and Mayer were outstanding linemen for the Marines. They were in almost every play and frequently broke through the Packer line. Smith at an end position also did well on the defense.

O'BOYLE AT FULLBACK

Capt. Lambeau sent Lewellen and Kotal in as halfbacks to start the game with O'Boyle at fullback and Dunn at the quarterback post. The quartet worked fine together and handled the ball faultlessly. Dunn remained in the game the entire time and was a brilliant field general at all time. Lewellen's punts averaged over fifty yards on almost every try with one of them traveling 65 yards. The group kept the ball on the Marine territory almost the entire time they performed. Lollar went in at fullback near the end of the first quarter and remained in the game until the final quarter when he was replaced by O'Boyle. Marks went in for Lewellen in the second quarter and he likewise remained until the last period as did Hearnden who replaced Eddie Kotal. Earpe was shifted to a tackle position in the second quarter where he remained for a period. He performed equally as well as that spot as he did at the pivot position. Darling also was shifted from the center position, taking over an end when Dilweg went out. As a whole, the squad looked impressive and handled itself well. It came through the game without any major injuries, and, with another week's practice and a little bolstering of the line, should be able to furnish the Philadelphia Yellowjackets with a real battle next Sunday.

PACKERS READY FOR LEAGUE GAME

LOOKING UP IN THE REALM OF SPORTS - DOWNER COMMENTS

SEPT 17 (Green Bay Press-Gazette) - George F. Downer, sports editor of the Milwaukee Sentinel, who acted as head linesman at the Packer-Minneapolis game yesterday, was favorably impressed with our Green Bay team yesterday. Writing an account of the game for his newspaper, Downer predicted "that with ordinary luck the Packers will be strong contenders for the NFL championship". Following are a few other comments by Downer on the game: "For an opening game which was the first scrimmage for both teams, it was excellent football. The Packers, better organized, had a slight advantage in all departments of play - but it was no more than that - except in the forward passing department. Here the Packers are in a class by themselves. Their passing plays are nothing exceptional - just good, sound aerial stuff - but where they excel is in the individual technique and natural ability of their players. They have half a dozen backs who can stall around, fade back, duck and dodge, second after second, waiting for their eligible receivers to get in position, then shoot unerring tosses. They have receivers who can pull down, from impossible distances and angles and twist away from the secondary defense after they catch them. Considered from all angles, this is the best Packer squad we have ever seen. The line is active and powerful, smart and aggressive. The backs are clever in every department of the game. There is a spirit about them which belies the common contention that professional football players do just enough to earn the wages. This team has the pep and spirit of a varsity eleven. Capt. Lambeau used twenty players in the game and they all looked good - some merely being better than others. With ordinary luck this crowd will be strong contenders for the National Football League championship. Their faults today were all such as practice, scrimmages and the fire of competition will work out. All the Packers showed in the way of an attack was the Notre Dame shift and punt formation. It was simple stuff but the exceptional personnel of the team was reflected in the score. They held the mighty Joesting to just one gain of more than a yard or two, though in justice to him it should be said that he played a great all around game. No fullback can gain on plunges when three tacklers hit him before he gets his nose through the line. Aside from Kotal, it would be difficult to pick out individual Packers for special commendation. They all did well."

CUB LIKES PACKERS

SEPT 17 (Green Bay Press-Gazette) - "The Packers of 1928 look to me like the greatest team that Curley Lambeau has ever assembled," said Cub Buck, former Packer star, who "worked" Sunday's game between the Marines and the Bays. "There is a wealth of strength behind the line and the new forwards seem to have plenty of class. I think the Packers looked very well in the opener and it must be remembered that Minneapolis was the toughest 'first game' club that Green Bay has ever played. Unless I miss my guess, the Packers will place high in the National league race and, if injuries don't handicap, it wouldn't surprise me to see Green Bay bring home the pennant this fall."

GREAT GUARD

HAROLD HANSEN

Here is Harold Hansen, former All-American guard from the University of Minnesota, who will be seen in action here Sunday with the Philadelphia Yellowjackets. Hansen is rated as a "comer" in the professional game. This will be his first season in the National league.

deal of pride in their team. This year the Frankford management has rounded up a group of All-American college football stars that look good...WEIR IS CAPTAIN: Weir, one of the greatest tackles that Nebraska ever turned out, is running the Hornets this year. One of his recent additions is Hanson, the Minnesota All-Western forward who performed brilliantly against every team the Gophers played the last two years. The Frankford club will travel west in good style, making the trip in a special car which will be routed through to Green Bay. The Quakers are scheduled to reach here Saturday in time to work out at the City stadium the day before the game. There will be 36 in the party, including a few Philadelphia newspapermen who are coming here to cover the game, which will be the first intersection contest of the 1928 season.

PACKERS READY FOR LEAGUE GAME

SEPT 29 (Green Bay Press-Gazette) - Nearing the end of their second week of training for the opening of the National Football League here Sunday against the powerful Philadelphia Yellowjackets, the Packers today appear to be about the greatest team that ever wore the Blue and Gold uniform for this city. The teamwork is almost perfect and all the men appear fit and ready to go. The line is charging with a lot of power and the backfield men are handling the ball well and running through plays with smoothness and precision. Baker and Nimick who reported for the team this week are both in perfect condition and looked fine today, their second day in uniform. Baker is exceptionally fast and has all the requisites of a great backfield men. Nimick is charging with the line in great order, and likewise looks as if he will make the grade with the squad without much

BULLETIN

SEPT 18 (Green Bay Press-Gazette) - The Packer lineup was completed today when Roy "Bullet" Baker, former Yankee halfback, and Edwin Nimick, Iowa guard, arrived in town. The two men will don uniforms and join the team in practice tomorrow. A warm sun helped the men in practice today, given them an opportunity to go through a strenuous workout and unlimber any stiff muscles that resulted from Sunday's game. All the men except Marks were out on the field. Marks still is confined to the hospital with his injured knee suffered in the Marine game. He is not expected to be back in a uniform for several days and probably will not see action until the Bear game.

PERFECT WEATHER HELPS PACKERS IN REGULAR WORKOUTS

SEPT 19 (Green Bay Press-Gazette) - A smooth working Packer football machine will take the field next Sunday when the Frankford Yellowjackets, one of the greatest elevens in the NFL, comes here. It will be the first time in professional grid history that the Quaker state Hornets appear on a Wisconsin field. Perfect fall weather of the past three days has helped the Packers a great deal in their workouts and has relieved them almost entirely of the stiffness incurred by last week's rain and damp weather and Sunday's game. "Bullet" Baker and Nimick worked out with the squad for the first time today. They ran through a few plays with the team but mostly were engaged in preliminary limbering up work. Baker is small but well built, and appears to possess a great deal of speed. Nimick has all the requisites of a powerful guard and should work in good with the Packer linemen...YELLOWJACKETS ARE STRONG: The men all went through their plays smoothly in training today, and the punting by Estes and Lewellen was nearly perfect. The line is charging faster and handling of the ball is almost faultless. The Yellowjackets have a real football organization, and the Packers will have a tough contest on their hands to turn them back. The game Sunday will be the fourth encounter between the teams. The last three games played between the squads have been on Thanksgiving Day. In 1925 and '26, the Hornets were successful but in 1927 the Bays came from behind to score a 17 to 9 victory. Like the Packers, the Frankford team is a community backed organization. Frankford is a suburb of Philadelphia and the natives take a great

WILL PLAY HERE

RAYMOND "BUB" WELLER

Weller is one of the famous Cornhuskers, who won All-American honors in 1922. He is a giant backfield man, scaling over 200 pounds. This will be Weller's first appearance with the Yellowjackets.

HERE SUNDAY

"Bull" Behman

This big fullback who will be seen with the Yellowjackets tomorrow is a product of Dickinson college. He played with the Frankford team in 1925, joined the Philadelphia Quakers in the American league in 1926 but was reinstated last year to play again with Frankford. He is regarded as one of the mainstays of the team.

trouble...MARKS STILL OUT: Larry Marks is the only man not out for practice. He still is suffering from the injury to his knee received in last Sunday's game. Doctors believe that Marks will be out of the game for about a week yet, but stated that he might be able to play in the Bear game. The game Sunday with the Yellowjackets is expected to be one of the toughest on the schedule this year as Capt. Ed Weir, of Nebraska fame, has gathered together a great team. He has Harold Hansen, of Minnesota, as one of his new men for a guard position. Hansen was All-Western guard for Minnesota last year when playing with Joesting. He also has several Penn State and Pennsylvania stars with him on the team as well as a few players from Nebraska...ROEPKE WITH TEAM: Johnny Roepke who was chosen on Grantland Rice's All-American squad last year when he captained Penn state is one of the new men who will be with the Hornets Sunday. He is a halfback who weighs 175 pounds. Charlie Kassell, former running mate of Red Grange, plays an end position for the Yellowjackets. This is his second year with the Philadelphia team. He was chosen as an All-American star in 1925 and '26 while with Illinois. He was considered with the best receiver of passes at Illinois since the days of Chuck Carney in 1920. His position is at end. He weighs 190 pounds and is six feet tall. Arnold Oehlich, a backfield man from the University of Nebraska, and Raymond "Bub" Weller, tackle, also of Nebraska, are two other men with the Yellowjackets. Weller weighs 215 pounds and is a powerful blocker. He won All-American honors in 1922. At the quarterback position, the Yellowjackets have Henry "Two Bits" Homan, known as the smallest and shiftest man in football. He is but 5 feet 5 1/2 inches tall and weighs but 144 pounds. Despite his size, Homan has made a success at professional football, this being his fourth year in the game.

YELLOWJACKETS DUE HERE SATURDAY

BULLETIN

SEPT 21 (Philadelphia) - The Frankford Yellowjackets football team left here this morning for Green Bay, Wis., where on Sunday a NFL game will be played against the Packers. Coach Weir reported the squad in tiptop condition as all the players came out of the 12-0 victory over the Orange, N.J., team last Sunday in good shape. There are about thirty players and officials in the party.

YELLOWJACKETS DUE HERE SATURDAY

SEPT 21 (Green Bay Press-Gazette) - The Packers will taper off their two weeks of strenuous training with a light workout tomorrow and rest up before the game with the strong Yellowjacket eleven at City stadium Sunday. Rain which fell during the night made the practice field slow today, but when the sun came out this morning, Capt. Lambeau sent his men through one of the fastest and hardest sessions since practice began. He had the players doing light scrimmage, covering punts from all formations and other preparatory measures for the game...ERECT EXTRA BLEACHERS: Indications of a capacity house are seen in the advance ticket sales for the game. The demand has been unusually heavy and extra bleacher are being put up at the west end of the field to handle the crowd. They have been loaned from West high school. The Philadelphia Yellowjackets are due in here tomorrow in time to go through a practice session before the contest Sunday. The Hornets are coming with approximately a score of players on the roster. Among the Yellowjackets who will be seen here are two new men in the pro field, who the Packers tried to get but were not successful. They are John Roepke and Roger Mahoney of Penn State. Roepke played with the Penn State team for three years, captaining the eleven in his senior year. He was chosen on Grantland Rice's All-American squad last year. He is a halfback, who weighs 175 pounds...CAHN WILL REFEREE: Mahoney was a regular with the Penn State team for three years performing at a center position. He weighs 190 pounds and is six feet tall. E.A. Dobry of the University of Montana, and Wally Diehl, of Bucknell, who was sought by the Giants, are two other new backfield men with the Yellowjackets, who will be seen in action Sunday. Rudy Comstock of Georgetown, Joey Maxwell of Notre Dame, Jack Filak of Penn State, Charlie Rogers of University of Pennsylvania, Bull Behman of Dickinson and Stockton of Gonzaga, a teammate of Ashmore and Cahoon, are veterans of the professional game, who also are with the Philadelphia team. Bobbie Cahn of Chicago, one of the smallest field officials in the league and an old favorite here, will referee the game Sunday. Otto Engle, also of Chicago, will umpire and Paul Christensen of Menominee, Mich., will be head linesman.

PRO GRID NOTES

SEPT 21 (Green Bay Press-Gazette) - The NFL will get underway Sunday as two games are scheduled. From now until the middle of December, the pro football elevens will get a share of the sport limelight...The Chicago Cards and Bears will meet at Normal park which is a home field of Chris O'Brien's hirelings in the first fray of a two game series. The other tilt is booked for Cubs' park on Thanksgiving Day...The Providence Steamrollers are looking forward to their league opening tilt with the New York Yankees on Sept. 29. Conzelman is keying his eleven for this encounter...The New York Giants will play an exhibition game against the Orange, N.Y. Athletic club eleven. This squad is composed entirely of former college stars and Gothamites are not apt to have any too easy a game...With many of his 1927 Cleveland squad back in togs, Benny Friedman figures that he can give Detroit a winner in the National league. Reports have it that the natives of the Motor City are talking a lot of pro football...Bobby Cahn, diminutive Chicago official, will work in Joe Carr's circuit. The "half pint" referee is well liked by spectators and players because he is right on top of the ball after every play...The Pottsville Maroons will attempt to play three games in six days. On Election day, Nov. 6, the Miners meet the Giants in New York while the following Saturday and Sunday they have a home and home series with Frankford...Smith, the All-America pro center for the past two year, will perform with Providence this fall. Last season, the classy center passed the ball for Cleveland while in 1926 he was the mainstay of the Kansas City crew...The Chicago Cardinals opened their schedule with a 12 to 0 victory over Doc Young's Hammond club. Gramp, St. Mary's college quarterback, made a successful debut in pro football by making the first score of the game...Although the Duluth Eskimos are laying idle this year, many of the players will be seen in action with other elevens. Among the transfers is halfback Fitzgibbon, who has put his name on a Chicago Cardinal contract...The New York Giant management isn't doing any worrying about strength behind the line. In McBride and Hinkey Haines, Tim Mara's eleven has two of the best in postgraduate gridiron circles...The Frankford Yellowjackets figure they picked up a star in Hanson, giant lineman from Minnesota. This big Gopher hits the scales at 200 plus and is hard as a rock. He and Weir should give opponents a lot of grief...As usual, George Halas and Dutch Sternaman are bossing the Chicago Bears again this fall. These two former Illinois stars have been playing pro football for years and there isn't a smarter pair in the National loop...Conzelman of Providence and Lambeau of Green Bay are also veteran leaders. Conzelman has played with four clubs while Lambeau has directed the Packers through eleven good seasons...The New York Giants are going to play a home game at the Polo grounds until Nov. 4. They open at Pottsville, Sept. 30, then make a western tour for three weeks before returning to Gotham to face Pyle at the Yankee stadium.

FRANKFORD CLASHES WITH PACKERS

SEPT 22 (Green Bay Press-Gazette) - Green Bay's finest - the Packer model of 1928 - will take the field tomorrow at City stadium against one of the best elevens in the East - the Frankford Yellowjackets - and the NFL will be officially opened. The Bay team looks about as good an eleven as ever represented this city. It appears powerful on the defense and offensive strength appears to be equal anything in the country. Tomorrow will tell the story of what it can do against another powerful squadron. Two weeks of hard practice, and one victory already over with, has left the Packers in fine trim. But one injured man is on the squad, and he soon again will don the moleskins. Marks came out of the hospital after treatment for his injured knee and probably will see action a week from tomorrow. The forward passing offense and defense has been particularly stressed in training this week and, as a result, when the teams take the field tomorrow, the Bays are expected to show some real action in this branch of play...STRESS PASS DEFENSE: Blocking and concentrated line action also has been drilled into the men through this week's session and the players appear fast charging and should be effective in this department. The Yellowjackets come here with a heavy line that is well balance with veterans and newcomers in the professional field. With Ed Weir and Charlie Kassel playing the ends, the Packers will have a hard time going around any of the wings. With Joey Maxwell and Mahoney ready for center duty, and Hansen, Filak, Comstock and Diehl at the other line positions, it will be a real task to go through the forward wall...STARTING LINEUP NOT ANNOUNCED: Capt. Lambeau has not announced his starting lineup, but probably will use most of his veterans at the start and work in all of the new men before the game is over. O'Boyle or Lollar, Lewellen, Dunn and Kotal probably will start in the backfield, as that quartet looked like the best forward passing outfit in last Sunday's game. O'Donnell and Dilweg probably will start at wing berths with the tackle to tackle positions still in doubt. The game probably will develop into a forward passing affair with both teams relying on this method of gaining ground as the lines are too strong for much plunging to be done. Ideal football weather is expected for the encounter as weather forecasts say that a light rain may fall tonight, followed by clearer tomorrow, with the possibility of a light frost tonight. Advance ticket sales indicate a capacity turnout for the game. This will be the first time in the history of the professional game that the Pennsylvania team has played in Wisconsin. The Frankford team is expected to arrive here some time today in time to go through a light workout before the battle.
