PACKERS JOLT DAYTON 17 TO 0

GAME RECAP (GREEN BAY PRESS-GAZETTE)

(GREEN BAY) - Having tasted of the fruits of victory against the Cardinals and Bears, the Packers evidently found it good and were after more Sunday, for they kept up their winning pace against the Dayton Triangles at the City stadium and turned back the Ohio invaders by a 17 to 0 score. The Bays ran their string of consecutive wins to three by applying an old theory to the game - that of getting a lead and then never allowing opponents to get within striking distance of their goal. They weren't satisfied with a three-point margin gained in the first period by a perfectly executed placekick by O'Boyle but added seven more in the second quarter by a touchdown and then to make it a little more impressive added a second touchdown in the last period.

O'BOYLE KICKS GOAL

To tell about the most outstanding part of the game would be rather difficult, as the contest was filled with colorful dashes and plays. Perhaps it would be best to start by relating how the Packers scored their points then tell about the action in the continuity as it transpired. The first Green Bay score came in the first quarter after an exchange of punts gave the ball to the Packers on the Dayton 33-yard line. Dunn brought it to that point when Britton's punt was bad and Red took it for a fifteen yard gain before he was dropped. Two line plays then failed to gain much and O'Boyle dropped back to the 16 yard line and with Red Dunn holding the oval booted it over the uprights.

LEWELLEN GOES OVER

Red Dunn again gave the Packers their opening to score in the second quarter when he brought back a punt to the 43 yard line before he was stopped. Dunn, O'Boyle and Lewellen then advanced it 20 yards on line plunges. A pass from Lewellen to Eddie Kotal brought the ball to the 3 yard line and Lewellen carried it over. Eddie made a great catch of Lew's pass and fought his way to the three yard line after being tackled, but could not quite make it to the goal. Lew carried it over by going wide around right end behind perfect interference. Late in the last period Dilweg intercepted a Dayton pass on the 25 yard line and a pass and three line plunges gave the Packers their final touchdown. Capt. Lambeau who played the final half heaved the first pass, after Dilweg's catch, to Marks who was downed on the Dayton 7 yard line. O'Boyle then plowed over right guard for 4 yards and Marks tried left tackle but was stopped without a gain. On the next play, O'Boyle went over right tackle for a touchdown. He dropkicked the goal to make the score 17 to 0. At no time was Dayton beyond the Packer 40 yard line and the Ohioans found the going tough against the powerful Green Bay line. They could make but two first downs against the Bays and both of these came by forward passes.

GAIN 200 YARDS

In the meantime, the Packers also found it hard to gain yardage through the center of the line, but plowed around the ends and off tackle for substantial gains, making eight first downs by these modes of attack. They gained over 200 yards from scrimmage. In the first quarter, the play was almost entirely in the Dayton territory with the Packers having possession of the ball most of the time. Lewellen's punting gave the Packers a decided advantage and just before the field goal was scored he punted out of bounds on the three yard line. Britton's return punt was poor and Dunn returned it to the 33 yard line as was related previously. The Packers had possession of the ball most of the time in the second period. Whenever the Dayton team had the ball, the Packer linemen charged in on the them breaking up almost every play forcing them to punt.

O'BOYLE GAINS 32 YARDS

Britton got off his longest punt of the day soon after the start of the second half, kicking the ball to the Packer ten yard line from his own goal line. The ball sailed over Baker's head and rolled out of bounds on the ten yard mark. The ball wasn't in the Packer territory very long, however, as a few exchanges of punts and some brilliant runs by O'Boyle and Baker brought it into Dayton territory. O'Boyle made one gain of 32 yards in this period by cutting back over right tackle and eluding three Dayton men. In the final period Larry Marks started out soon after the quarter began by making a great left end run from the 44 yard line to the six yard line before he was stopped. Two line plays gained but a few yards and then a fumbled ball pushed the ball back to the twelve yard line. The fourth play was an incompleated pass over the goal line and Dayton took it over on their own 20 yard line. Dayton immediately started a passing attack - in a vain attempt to score. Two of their heaves were completed for a first ten but the third one was intercepted by Dilweg on the 25 yard line and from there, the Packers marched down to their third score.

SIDELIGHTS

OCT 29 (Green Bay Press-Gazette) - Darling played his first full game of the season at center and turned in a fine exhibition. His passing was good and, on the defense, he broke through on several occasions to smear Dayton men for a loss. In the first quarter, Darling made a particularly good play by cutting through the line and throwing Britton for a six yard loss...Bowdoin also turned in a good game at left guard as Dayton was unable to gain a thing through his part of the line. Bowdoin also broke up several Dayton plays behind the line of scrimmage...Both Lavvie Dilweg and Dick O'Donnell turned in their customary brilliant work, intercepting several Dayton passes and stopping everything that came their way. On covering punts the two Packer wingmen were down on the man receiving the ball before he had a chance to get started. Just before the first period ended, both men hit Abbott on the 14 yard line as he received a punt at that position before he had a chance to move...In the third quarter, Earpe broke through the Dayton line and downed Sillin for a 13 yard loss. This was only one of the many good plays made by Jugger while he was in the game...In the final period after the Packers' second touchdown, Graham took the kickoff and tore 45 yards through most of the Packer team before he was stopped by O'Boyle. He nearly was free for a run for a touchdown, but O'Boyle made a dying tackle that stopped him...The day was ideal for football with just enough chill in the air to make the 3,100 fans present wrap blankets about their legs to keep warm...The American Legion Lumberjack band was on hand and again provided entertainment before the game and between halves.

POTTSVILLE IN FIRST BAY INVASION SUNDAY

OCT 30 (Green Bay Press-Gazette) - The Pottsville Maroons, one of the strongest professional football teams in the country, will make their first invasion of Wisconsin Sunday when they come to Green Bay to take on the Packers. The two teams have met but once since the National league was organized and the game played in Pennsylvania resulted in the worst defeat ever suffered by the Green Bay eleven. Pottsville won the game, played on Thanksgiving Day, 1925, by a 31 to 0 score...FIRST EASTERN GAME: This was the opening game of the Packers' first Eastern trip. There were several reasons for the defeat, however, as the Sunday before, the Packers met and were defeated by the Bears and lost the services of several regulars. Cub Buck, George Vergara, Ojay Larson and Charlie Mathys were injured in the Bear game and unable to play. Capt. Lambeau also was suffering from a bad knee and was on the sidelines. The game marked Eddie Kotal's debut as a pro gridder and he got away so big that many of the Pottsville natives thought the former Lawrence college star was Jimmy Crowley of Notre Dame "Four Horsemen" fame. Crowley joined the Packers on this trip east but not until the team played Philadelphia, several days after the contest against the Maroons. The Maroon team that beat the Bays that year was rated as one of the greatest of all time. French and Berry, two All-Americans, led the attack against the Packers, while La Tone, Racis, Stein, Budd, Osborne, Ernest and Wentz also did good work. French and Berry have since left the Maroon camp but the rest of those stars are still with the team. The Packer squad was composed of O'Donnell, Vergara and Wilkins, at ends; Cub Buck, Earpe and Jean, tackles; Abramson, Woodin and Gardner, guards; Larson, center; Mathys, quarterback; Lambeau, Kotal, Norton and Lewellen, halfbacks, and Basing and Harris, fullbacks...STARS TO RETURN: Many of that same Packer team are still members of the Green Bay eleven and of those who have left the ranks, practically all will be back to see the two teams in action. An invitation to attend Sunday's game here has been extended to all of the former Packer players who performed with the team since its origin. Most of the men who have been invited already have signified their intentions of returning to Green Bay for the game which will be in the nature of the Packers' first Homecoming contest.

BAYS IN GOOD SHAPE FOR POTTSVILLE FRAY

NOV 1 (Green Bay Press-Gazette) - Several of the old-time Packer players have rallied to the call for a "homecoming" here Sunday when the Green Bay eleven takes on the powerful Pottsville Maroons at the City stadium. Among those who have indicated that they surely would be on hand for the game are Sammy Powers, Paul Davis, Gus Rosenow, Moose Gardner and Jab Murray. All of these men are old favorites here and they together with several others, too numerous to mention, will run through a signal drill between the halves. Capt. Curly Lambeau has been drilling the Bays on several pass defense formations this week in the hopes of stopping this mode of attack, which is Pottsville's greatest threat. Against the Providence Steam Rollers last week, Pottsville made 11 first downs during the game through aerial offense. They averaged better than 11 yards per every completed pass and gained over 110 yards on 10 completed passes. Off tackle and center line plunges also are employed by the Pottsville team to good advantage and the Packers have been preparing a defense to stop this attack. Tony La Tone and Norman are the best ball carriers on the Pottsville team and it will be these two men that the Packers will have to stop more than any of the others. All of the Packers except Tom Nash probably will be ready to see action Sunday. Nash still is handicapped by a bad leg and may have to sit on the sidelines. Larry Marks and Bullet Baker, in view of their good showing against Dayton last Sunday, probably will see a lot of action against the Easterners. O'Boyle is almost a sure starter at fullback and Eddie Kotal, Lewellen and Dunn also will see their customary service in the backfield. Every one of the linemen is likely to get into the game. There are some good seats still to be had for the game here Sunday. The Packer management announced today. They can be had at the usual places about town or at the Press-Gazette office any night this week.

BAYS EXPECT YEAR'S HARDEST GAME AGAINST POTTSVILLE

NOV 2 (Green Bay Press-Gazette) - Expecting one of the hardest games of the year when Pottsville comes here Sunday, Capt. Lambeau has been running his men through some of the toughest scrimmages of the season in preparation for the contest. Defenses against forward passes has been particularly stressed, as it is in this department of the game that Pottsville has displayed most of its strength this year. The Bays also have been practicing several new running plays that should gain a lot of ground against the Pottsville team...IN GOOD SHAPE: All of the Packer players, with the exception of Tom Nash, are expected to be in condition to play Sunday. Nash is still suffering from an injury to his leg and it may be advisable to keep him on the sidelines for another week or so. His loss will not be seriously felt however unless Dilweg or O'Donnell are injured. Both these veteran wingman have been going in great style lately and are equal to any in the conference. The guard, tackle and center position likewise will be held down by stellar men on the Packer team Sunday against Pottsville. Darling, in view of his good showing against Dayton, is sure to see a lot of action again Sunday. By using Darling at center, Capt. Lambeau can have Jug Earpe at a tackle position where he shows up in an impressive way, and with Minick, Perry, Jones, Bowdoin, Woodin and Ashmore to alternate in the line, the Bays are expected to stop the thrusts of the plowing Tony La Tone and other Pottsville stars...TWO NEW MEN: Pottsville has another great team this year, and, with the addition of Earle and Merle Goodwin this week to its backfield, is sure to have plenty of offensive strength. Among the other stars with the Maroons are Kenneally of Boston, Rooney of Duluth, Cary of Lehigh, Budd of Bucknell, Pete Henry of Washington and Jefferson, Racis of Niagara, Kiesling of St. Thomas, Heinstein of Pittsburgh, Osborne of Pittsburgh, Blood of Duluth, Ernst of Penn State, Nelson of New York U, Norman of Cornell and Moran of Texas. Kiesling, Rooney and Blood all are former members of the Duluth Eskimos and are doing well with Pottsville. Pete Henry, the Pottsville coach and tackle, in a recent article in Colliers, was termed by John Heisman, a noted football authority, as one of the greatest if not the greatest tackles of all time. As this is the first time that Pottsville ever played in Wisconsin one of the largest crowd of the year is expected to be at the City stadium when the game gets underway at 2 p.m. Some good tickets still remain, however, and can be secured at the Press-Gazette office in the evenings and at the regular places about town.

Saturday, Benny Friedman's team performs in Frankford, Pa., while on Sunday they are scheduled in Providence, R.I...The New York Yankees start their western tour on Sunday with a game in Chicago against the Bears. A week later, the Pyle-men are billed in Green Bay while on Nov. 18, the Gotham squad mingles again with the Detroit Wolverines...After being on the road for six weeks, the New York Giants open a long stay at the Polo grounds Sunday with a game against the Yellowjackets. The 1927 pro league champs hope to pick up lots of lost ground while at home...Jack Britton is earning his money with the Dayton Triangles. The former Illinois star is just about the whole show behind the line. He lugs the ball about every third time besides doing all the passing and punting...Pete Jackson, former Missouri star, has come through for the Detroit Wolverines. Jackson was off the gridiron for two seasons but he asked Manager Andrews for a chance at fullback and has filled the bill...Maxwell, former Notre Dame star, is proving a handy man to have around in the Yellowjacket camp. He started off the season at center but now Coach Weir is using him frequently at end. Maxwell talks as hard as he plays...Boob Darling has earned his spurs with the Packers. After a year on the bench, the recruit center played the entire game against Dayton and his brilliant defensive play was an outstanding feature of the contest...When it come to guard they don't make 'em much better than Michalske, the New York Yankee veteran. He follows the ball closely and is on top of every play...Several of the clubs have been making offers for a couple of Chicago Cardinal players but Manager Chris O'Brien is sticking tight so that he will have his club intact for the eastern invasion and the Bear game...Harvey and Hanny, a pair of heavyweight ends, are doing good service for the Providence Steamrollers. Hanny was with the Bears last fall while Harvey has played with several pro clubs. Both of them are fast for big fellows...Rosey Rosatti has won a berth with the New York Giants. He is a veteran tackle and has been on the postgraduate gridiron for six seasons. Rosatti knows football and is a topnotcher when playing on the defensive...Larry Walquist is back in the game again for the Chicago Bears. The former Illinois flash was gashed badly in the Giants' fray but he performed like the Walquist of old in the game with Benny Friedman's tribe...Tony LaTone is still good for a yard or two whenever given the ball. This plunging Pottsville backfielder seems to improve with old age. Tony doesn't worry about holes, he just brushes aside anything in his way...Once in a while some praise is heard for an official and George Lawrie, the Chicago referee, is being spoken of highly for his work. Lawrie is always right on top of the play and he hustles the teams along...The New York Giants drew first blood in their city feud with the Yanks to the tune of 10-7. Bruce Caldwell had one of his best days and he led the Giants' attack. Gibby Welch was very much in the limelight for the Yanks.

PACKERS READY FOR POTTSVILLE

NOV 3 (Green Bay Press-Gazette) - When the Packers and Maroons, representing the two smallest cities in the NFL - Green Bay and Pottsville - clash at the City stadium here Sunday, fans are expected to see one of the hardest battles of the year. The two teams are about as evenly matched as any squads in the country, and both have aspirations to finish among the first three in the league this year and the outcome of Sunday's game may go a long way in determining the final standing. Pottsville has lost two games, the same as Green Bay. The New York Giants defeated them by one touchdown and the Providence team did likewise. In both of these games, however, Pottsville played on a par to their opponents but lost out on breaks of the game. The Maroons defeated the Yankees, 9 to 7, in the only other league game played...FIRST TRIP HERE: In games played this year Pottsville has scored 131 points to 32 made by opposing teams. They opened the season with a 34 to 0 victory over Harrisburg, and defeated Coaldale, 52 to 0, in the second game. Then they lost to the Giants by a 12 to 6 score. In the fourth game, they defeated Cincinnati, 14 to 0, and then beat the Yankees, 9 to 7. Last Sunday's game was lost to Providence by a 13 to 6 score. This will be the first time that Pottsville ever has played in Wisconsin and it should be interesting to watch the boys from the Pennsylvania mining country can do against the dairy land lads who perform for the Packers. The Maroons, headed by Coach Pete Henry, left Pottsville yesterday in a private coach and are due here early Sunday morning. They will leave after the game and travel on to New York where they will play the Giants on Tuesday, Election Day. The Pottsville team is almost a duplicate of the Packer squad as far as history is concerned. The team started out as a hometown aggregation and like the Packers blossomed out until in 1924, it entered the National league...BEAT BAYS IN 1925: In 1925, the Pottsville team handed Green Bay one of the worst defeats it ever experienced, winning by a 31 to 0 score. Osborne, Wentz and Tony La Tone are but a few of the Maroon players of that year who are still with the team. The Packers have been putting in some hard training sessions this week in the hopes of avenging that 1925 defeat and as the men are in the best condition of the year, Capt. Lambeau is optimistic about his team's chances of winning. Tom Nash is the only player who probably will not be in shape to see action. All of the rest of the men have recovered from injuries and are likely to play. Nash still is handicapped by his injured leg and it is deemed advisable that he be given another week's rest...FORWARD PASSING GAME: Lollar, who was injured in the first game of the year here, also has practically recovered from his injury and may get into the game if he is needed. Cahoon and Red Dunn, who were ailing last week, are both in good shape again. The game may develop into an aerial contest with both teams heaving the oval on frequent plays. Pottsville has been particularly successful in this branch of play and is expected to use it frequently. The Packers likewise have used the forward passing offense to gain ground on frequent occasions. Invitations have been extended to all of the former Packer players to witness the game and take part in a

"homecoming" celebration planned for the day. Some of the men who played with the team as far back as in 1918 will be among those present Sunday...OLD TIMERS RETURN: Among them are Jab Murray, now mayor of Marinette, who wore a Packer uniform for many years, Moose Gardner, who now is a prominent businessman of Ashland, Claude Taugher, a physician of Milwaukee, and Tubby Howard of Mondovi, Wis. Another who is expected is Gus Rosenow, the only one-armed player who ever wore a Green Bay uniform and who now is superintendent of schools at Niagara, Wis. The old-timers will run through a signal drill on the field between halves. Ticket sales this week have been good, club officials report, and one of the largest crowds of the season is expected to be on hand when the game gets underway at 2 p.m.

Pottsville Maroons Play Here Sunday, Nov. 4

MINERS ONCE BEAT BAYS BY BIG SCORE

Took Packers Into Camp,
31-0, Thanksgiving 1925.

The Pottsville Maroons and Packers have met but once and it resulted disastrously for the Big Bay Blues. The stage was set on the Miners' home field on Thanksgiving Day, 1925, and, when the final whistle blew the Badger state champions, were on the short end of a 31 to 0 score. It was the worst upset that Lambeau & Co. has ever suffered in ten years on the professional gridiron.

This was the opening game of the Packers' first eastern trip and, when the flash came from Pottsville about the score, gloom was knee deep in old Green Bay.

But there was a reason for the lacing. The Sunday before the Packers met the Bears in Chicago and not only were defeated but lost the services of Cub Buck, George Vergara, Ojay Larson and Charlie Mathys. To make matters worse, Capt. Lambeau was on the 'shelf' with a trick knee and several of the other players were riding 'charley horses'.

This Pottsville game marked Eddie Kotal's debut as a pro gridder and he got away so big that many of the Pottsville natives thought the former Lawrence star was no other than Jimmy Crowley of the Notre Dame 'Four Horseman' fame. Crowley joined the Packers on this trip east but not until the team played Philadelphia several days after the contest in the Miners' hamlet.

The Miners' crew that beat the Bays was rated as one of the greatest of all time. French and Berry, two all-Americans led in the attack against the Packers while LaTone, Racis, Stein, Budd, Osborne, Ernest and Wentz, still with Pottsville, had a hand in the walloping.

The Packer squad in 1925 was composed of: O'Donnell, Vergara and Wilkins, ends; Buck, Earpe and Jean, tackles; Abramson, Woodin and Gardner, guards; Larson, center; Mathys, quarterback; Lambeau, Kotal, Norton and Lewellen, halfbacks; Basing and Harris, fullbacks.

PACKER STARS OF YESTERDAY GATHER AGAIN

Packer fans will have an opportunity next Sunday to see some of the former Packer stars again but this time it will not be in uniform as in the days of yore. An invitation has been extended to all of the former Packer players including "Moose" Gardner, Wally Nieman, Tommy Mille, Tubby Howard, Art Schmaehl, Jab Murray, Jack McAuliffe, and others too numerous to mention. Between the halves the "old timers" will run through a signal drill to show that they still are able to get around perhaps not as fast as formerly but nevertheless in a style resembling their actions when they cavorted on the gridiron for the locals.

NEW YORK YANKEES PLAY HERE NOV. 11

The Packers will finish their 1928 season at home on Sunday, Nov. 11 when they tackle the New York Yankees in the local stadium. The Yanks have a great team this year including the famous Gubby Welch, of Pittsburgh, who broke across the football horizon last fall in a "Red" Grange.

In all of the Yank games this season Welch has been the big star and his work in the Yellow Jacket game resulted in the only defeat for the Frankford aggregation, the score being 13 to 0.

MAROON'S SQUAD IS COMPOSED OF VETS

Experienced Pro Footballers
Make Up Machine.

The Pottsville Maroons have a veteran club on the field this year. Every man on the team is a pro gridiron veteran. Headed by Pete Henry, said to be the greatest tackle of all times, the Miner players know the 'dollar and cents' style of football from A to Z.

In the backfield, there is Tony LaTone at fullback. He is a line plunger without a par. Barney Wentz and 'Crab' Ernst alternate at quarter and halfback. They have been with the Maroons for six years. Moran, who played with the Yellow Jackets last season and Jack Norman from Pittsburgh complete the Maroons' squad of ball carriers.

At the ends, Pottsville has Kenneally and Joe Rooney. Kenneally was on the second all-American pro team last year while Rooney starred with the Duluth Eskimos.

'Fish' Carp and Harry Budd are the tackles. Both of them tip the beam at over 200 pounds. Pete Henry also steps into action at tackle when the going gets rough.

Frankie Racis, a Pottsville veteran, and Keisling from Duluth, flank the center. They are rugged griders and give stonewall support to the snapper back. In Hank Osborne and Herb Stein, the Maroons have a pair of the best centers in the league. Osborne has been playing the pro game for about a dozen years and doesn't know how a headguard feels.

TONY LA TONE DOESN'T WORRY OVER SIGNALS

Most of the players in the pro game learned their football at some higher institution but on the Pottsville team is one player whose education consisted of about 4 grades, yet he is one of the most outstanding players in the game at the present time. He is none other than our old friend Tony LaTone, he of the bald head. Tony is a product of the coal regions of Pennsylvania and whenever Pottsville needs a couple of yards all Tony does is say "Give me dat ball" and he usually gets it and the necessary yards as well.
