PACKERS BEATEN BY ROCK ISLAND INDEPENDENTS, SCORE 3-0

Rube Ursella's Field Goal From 20-Yard Line Defeats Green Bay's Professionals

GAME RECAP (GREEN BAY PRESS-GAZETTE)

(ROCK ISLAND) - The Packers' winning streak ended with a thud here on Sunday afternoon at Douglas park when the Rock Island Independents pulled one of the biggest surprises of the pro football season when they slipped one over on the Green Bay eleven by the score of 3 to 0. It was one of the pigskin exhibitions that is hard to explain. The Packers gained much more yardage than the Islanders but they could not bunch their gains consistently. The Islanders did not do much to speak of except towards the close of the second quarter and in the final period with halftime only about three minutes off, the Independents grabbed off a punt in midfield. Two line slashes moved up the chalk mark a bit and then Buck Gavin, who was playing like a fighting fool, slashed through the line for a 20-yard gain. The Packers held stubbornly for three downs but old Rube Ursella, veteran of about 'steen years on the pro gridiron, still had one good boot left in his kicking toe, and he proceeded to make use of it. The pigskin sailed through the uprights clean as a whistle from the 20-yard line and some 2,000 Islanders went wild with delight. It put them ahead, 3 to 0, of what the papers here had proclaimed was the greatest pro football eleven in the country.

PLAYED ON DEFENSIVE

The handful of Green Bay followers were not exceptionally worried about the three-point advantage as they figured Lambeau and Company would yet bring the bacon. Starting the third quarter, the Islanders played on the defensive all the time. They would rush a couple of times and then kick. Ursella had the win behind him and his kicks were making up the ground gained by the Packers. Towards the close of the third period, the Packers unleashed a very brisk offensive that netted three first downs in succession and the natives of the Tri-Cities began yelling, "Hold 'em." Gavin knocked down a Packer pass at this crucial stage of the game and the ball changed hands. It was another lucky break for the Islanders. When the fourth period got underway, the Packers had the wind behind them and it was figured that the Bays would stage a "ninth inning" rally and pull the game out of the fire. However, the dope went astray. Rock Island inserted a youngster by the name of Lamb, who had burned up the gridiron at Lombard college for three years. The newcomer was far from being as meek as his name implies. He was a whole team in himself. He gained plenty of yards and his spirited runs caused the Packers plenty of trouble. However, Green Bay died with its boots on. The Packers were going hard at the finish. Captain Lambeau resorted to every trick of the trade to get across the one pass that would bring home the bacon but the Islanders were not to be denied. Flushed with victory close at hand, they did some wonderful blocking and every one of the Packers, eligible to receive a pass, was always covered like a tent.

STARTED OFFENSIVE EARLY

Even with but a minute to go and the ball deep in Packers territory, the Packers attempted three forward passes and then hurled a fourth one rather than kicking but it went bad and a few seconds later the whistle blew and the Packers dropped from a 1.000 to .667 in the percentage table. During the first period and up to the halfway mark in the second quarter, the Packers simply played circles around their foes. The Islanders couldn't move to speak of through the line or around the ends and their few feeble attempts to forward passes went astray. The Packers showed an offensive early in the game that had endeared them to the fans at home. It was a crashing, smashing game and the Islanders were doing some fancy goose-stepping in their own backyard. Several times the Packers were right on the verge of scoring but the cards were dealt the other way, and the breaks in football were breaking the other way. The Packers' touchdown play did, but it didn't in this quarter. With the ball about a dozen yards from the Islanders' goal, the Bays pet formation went through like clockwork. Once again Mathys hurled the ball to Lewellen who grabbed the pigskin right on the outside line. If Lew had been two inches inside, it would have been a touchdown. But "ifs" don't win a ball game. Continuing their rapid advance, the Packers twice more threw shivers down the backs of the Rock Island crowd but somewhat always crabbed the act when a touchdown loomed certain. It was a grueling combat. There was little love on either side and the players went at it hammer and tongs. Bobby Cahn was a pretty busy individual and sometimes it looked as if he might have himself to take a hand in the milling himself.

LEWELLEN SPRAINS ANKLE

The Packers got their share of bruises and Lewellen suffered a badly sprained ankle. Some of the others were much the worse for their afternoon on the gridiron. However, the Islanders had their share of aches and bruises. They knew they had been through a pigskin feud with frills. The Bay fans didn't suffer such of a loss from a pocketbook point of view because Rock Island was afraid of the Packers and they were asking three or four to one odds.

PACKERS PRACTICING FOR MILWAUKEE GAME ON SUNDAY

OCT 6 (Green Bay Press-Gazette) - "Beat Milwaukee and then Rock Island." That was the rallying cry of the Green Bay Packers as they resumed their practice sessions at the City Stadium this morning. A second checkup on the injured list from the grueling battle with the Independents show the casualties less serious than was forecast. An x-ray examination by Dr. W.W. Kelly of Lewellen's ankle, which was injured when Little Twig twisted it, does not disclose any broken bones but a bad sprain. Lew won't be in the Milwaukee game and there is some doubt about him playing in the Rock Island fray. The other members of the team who "got theirs" at Rock Island will be in shape to launch a new winning streak on Sunday at the expense of Milwaukee...ARE NOT OVERCONFIDENT: There is no sign of overconfidence in the Packers. True enough, the Cardinals handed McGurk's crew an artistic trimming but the fact of the matter is that the Milwaukee club drilled but once before the game in Chicago last Sunday. This week the Milwaukee players are camping in the Cream City and the squad will practice every afternoon. McGurk, the Milwaukee manager, would rather beat the Packers than any other team on his schedule and, in a letter to the Green Bay management, he said that the fans here would see a much improved team over the one that the Cardinals trimmed last Sunday. Milwaukee has the makings of a first class football machine. Hank Gillo can hold his own with the best in the country at fullback and he is a very disagreeable habit of booting field goals against the Packers. When he played with Racine, he was a thorn in the side of the Big Bay Blues. Gillo isn't the only luminary in the Milwaukee battle front. Shorty Bair is a slick working quarter and he is an expert passer. Roessler and Kibo Brumm are other stars of the Milwaukee club who played with Racine last year...BRYAN WITH MILWAUKEE: Red Bryan, a former member of the Bears, is performing in the backfield for Milwaukee along with Mason and Blood, a pair of crack college stars from Minnesota. Neacy is far from being the worst end in the world while Barney Traynor at center, was one of the greatest players ever turned out at Colgate. Dunnigan and Miller are two more linemen who should give the Packers a lot of trouble. Tickets for Sunday's game with Milwaukee are now on sale at the usual places about town.

MILWAUKEE PRACTICING DAILY FOR MIX WITH PACKERS

OCT 7 (Milwaukee) - It seems like old times in Milwaukee to see the pro footballers doing their "daily dozen" at Athletic park. Despite a lot of preseason bunk about Milwaukee not having a team in the NFL, the Badgers have got underway but it is a late start. Last Sunday McGurk's aggregation opened against the Cardinals and they got a fine trimming but there are reasons aplenty for this season. The squad had only practiced twice and the players' first scrimmage of the year. Signals were an unknown quantity and the Milwaukee club was forced to use the huddle system entirely...DIFFERENT STORY THIS WEEK: But it will be a different story this weekend when the Badgers take the field at Green Bay. A stiff week of practice will change the complexion of things entirely and those camping along Gridiron Row have a hunch that it will be a smooth working machine in action against the Badger state champions in Packerville. There should be a new spirit in the Milwaukee club this season as a number of Milwaukee players are on the team. Hank Gillo and Shorty Barr, two of the backfield aces, are products of the Cream City. Gillo was an All American at Colgate while Barr bobbed into the spotlight frequently a few seasons back at Wisconsin...OTHER MILWAUKEE PRODUCTS: Barney Trantor, center, is another Milwaukee product. Trantor has been coaching for several seasons. This is his first year on the postgraduate grid. Clem Neacy also hangs his hat in the Cream City. The lanky footballer is a corking good end. So good in fact that the Packers were dickering for him early in the season. Red Bryan, backfield, last season with the Chicago Bears, has been engaged in business in Milwaukee for several years while Kibo Brumm and Fritz Roessler are "year rounders" in the Cream City. Miller, who played on the line for Wisconsin in 1924, has since graduation drawn his weekly pay envelope from a banking institution in Milwaukee. In order to strengthen his forward wall, Manager McGurk has purchased the release of Neal from the Hammond club. Neal is the big tackle who picked up Paddy Driscoll's fumble in the Cardinal game and ran for a touchdown, winning the fray for Hammond. According to reports, several other additions to the team are looked for within the next day or two as negotiations are underway with two stars.

GILLO, MILWAUKEE FULLBACK, HAS ALWAYS GIVEN PACKERS PLENTY OF TROUBLE ON GRID

OCT 8 (Green Bay Press-Gazette) - When the Milwaukee Badgers step on the field here Sunday afternoon to face the Packers, old Hank Gillo and his educated toe will be listed among the visitors. The educated toe of Gillo is very important of his makeup. This is Gillo's first year with the Milwaukee club but during the past four years he has booted the pigskin for Racine with brilliant success against the Big Bay Blues and other strong clubs in the NFL...STILL CAN KICK: Maybe old Hank isn't as fast on his pins as he used to be and it is possible that he can't stand the "gaff" as in the olden days but his ability to kick hasn't been dimmed by old age and this fact alone is enough to give the Packers plenty to worry about in Sunday's game. From a Green Bay point of view, Gillo has been a very disagreeable habit of booting placekicks against the Packers and, since 1921, he has come through with five field goals, not to mention a few kicks after touchdowns. It was way back in 1921 when Gillo started his goal kicking spree against the Packers. Racine was not in the pro league at that time but they challenged Green Bay to a state championship game on a neutral field. The contest was staged in Milwaukee. The Packers were leading, 3 to 0, until the last minute of play when Gillo booted one from the 40-yard line knotting the count...TWO MORE FIELD GOALS: In 1922 Gillo came here with Racine and booted a field goal which won the game after the teams had staged a great battle. The score was 10 to 6. Later in the season, the Packers invaded Racine and Green Bay was leading 3 to 0 right up to the last ten seconds when Gillo came through with another one of his pesky field goals. Two weeks later in Milwaukee, the Packers walloped Racine, 14 to 0. Racine never did get near enough the goal line to try a placekick. In 1923 the Packers played Racine here about midseason and they suffered the worst rout of their career. When the smoke blew over, the score was 24 to 3. Gillo kicked a field goal and three goals after touchdowns. Later in the season the Bays got even and Gillo was kept field goalless...HE KICKS ANOTHER: Last year, the Packers and Racine had it out again here. Early in the battle a Packer fumble paved the way for Gillo to bob in the limelight again and he booted the ball between the uprights. This put Racine in the lead but a rally by the Packers in the last quarter wiped out this score. Gillo claims he still has a lot of field goals left in his kicking foot and it will be interesting to see if he makes good his threat to score against the Packers on Sunday.

PACKER SQUAD WORKING HARD FOR PRO LEAGUE GAME HERE ON SUNDAY WITH MILWAUKEE

OCT 9 (Green Bay Press-Gazette) - This has been a stiff week of practice for the Green Bay Packers as Captain Lambeau is determined to get back on Victory Row at the expense of the Milwaukee Badgers in Sunday's pro league game at the City Stadium in Joannes park. The Big Bay Blues showed plenty of fight against Rock Island but the punch when needed, was missing. The past several days has seen the Packers working at a fast pace building up their offensive and it wouldn't be surprising if the Green Bay team cut loose with a lot of new stuff when attacking...SHIFTS HIS LINEUP: Captain Lambeau has shifted his lineup frequently during the practice sessions. Some of the players who have been warming the bench all season have been getting heavy drill in the signal practice. It is possible that these gridders may get a good chance to display their pigskin wares. The Green Bay team is not underestimating Milwaukee. Although the Badgers didn't look any good in the Cardinal game, reports from the Cream City carry the news that the Milwaukee club is engaging in stiff workouts every day...LAURIE TO REFEREE: George Laurie of Chicago has been named by President Joe Carr to referee the game. Iverson, athletic director at Sheboygan, is to umpire and Murph White will be the head linesman. The ticket sale is picking up nicely and another good crowd is in prospect. Tickets can be secured at the usual places about town until Saturday night. The ticket window at the ball park will be opened at 10:30 Sunday morning...MILWAUKEE: The Milwaukee Badgers will take sixteen players to Green Bay for Sunday's game with the Packers. Manager McGurk announced his squad is in good shape and he claims that he will spring a surprise on the Badger state champions. During their stay in Green Bay, Milwaukee will headquarter at the Beaumont hotel.

PRO FOOTBALL GOSSIP

OCT 9 (Green Bay Press-Gazette) - The Chicago Bears are having their troubles trying to break into victory row. The Bruins bumped into another surprise last Sunday at Detroit when the Panthers played them to a tie game on a mud soaked gridiron...The Milwaukee

Badgers did not set the world afire in their opening league game against the Chicago Cardinals. McGurk's aggregation looked sorely in need of football practice and they took a 34 to 0 lacing...The Canton Bulldogs came into their own nicely in the fray against Dayton and the Triangles were forced to take the count 14-0. Jones made one of the touchdowns while other came on a pass, Henry to Zimmerman...Doc Elliott's educated toe gave Cleveland a 3 to 0 win against Columbus. Noble, former Nebraska star, returned to the Cleveland battle front and his brilliant ball carrying was a feature of the hard fought fracas...The gridiron feud between Buffalo and Rochester has resumed only to end in a scoreless encounter. Kendrick, former Bear, made his initial appearance in a Buffalo lineup and starred while Griggs was the Rochester ace...Philadelphia kept its record in the pro wheel clean by knocking off the Providence Steam Rollers, 7 to 0. Guy Chamberlain's club is playing great football and down Frankfort way they already have visions of a pennant...Pottsville lost their second start of the season as Providence, with its lineup greatly reinforced, trimmed the Maroons, 6 to 0. The Rhode Islanders had an imposing array of gridiron talent in the clash with Pottsville...After two tie games, Rock Island finally came into its own by downing the Green Bay Packers in a grudge battle, 3 to 0. A 30-yard run by Buck Gavin followed by Rube Ursella's kick paved the way for the lone counter...Akron came through with its second win of the season by dumping the Kansas City gridiron machine, 14 to 7. Boss Neid's squad played wide awake football and they were just a trifle too good for the husky invaders...Coach Folwell's New York makes it bow in to pro league football on Sunday in Providence against the Steam Rollers. Jim Thorpe, Dutch Hendrian, Hinkey Haines and a raft of other noted griders are in the Gothamites lineup...Duluth, fresh from a 9 to 0 victory over its non-league rival Ironwood last Sunday, is set for the Rock Island invasion. Dewey Scanlon's outfit has always jinxed the Islanders and they are determined to keep the hoodoo on...McInerney, who played center for the Chicago Cardinals until Ralph Claypool joined the team, is turning in a bangup game for Chris O'Brien at end. Mac tips the beam at over 200 pounds but he is a fast man on the gridiron...Guy Wimberly, former W. & J. lineman, is holding down a regular berth on Detroit's forward wall. Wimberly is standing up well in the pro league contests and Manager Conzelman thinks he will develop into a star performer...Berry and French, two member of Connie Mack's Athletics, have tossed aside their baseball togs and are wearing the moleskins of Pottsville. Berry starred at end for Lafayette while French was a slick gridder at West Point...Bob Marshall is chasing the pigskin for Duluth. The veteran colored ace has been on the pro grid for many seasons. However, he appears to be ripening with old age and still makes a lot of the youngsters travel pretty fast...Billy White, star at Oklahoma for the past three years, is getting away nicely for Kansas City. In a recent game against Duluth, White broke into the limelight with a 50-yard placekick which won the game for the Blues...The Cleveland eleven has signed up a husky lineman in Billy Brennan, who earned his football spurs at Cornell under Gil Dobie. Brennan is a 225 pounder and he cane work at either tackle or guard with equal class...Shorty Barr, Hank Gillo, Fritz Roessler and Kibo Brumm, ex-stars of the Racine Legion, are performing with Milwaukee. These players are veteran pro footballers and they form the making for a likely looking aggregation...Dolph Eckstein, one of the great centers turned out at Brown, is doing his stuff for Providence. Eckstein is rated as a wonderful passer and he is an ace on the defense as he has a habit of scenting opponents' plays...Wally Foster has been turning in some good exhibitions at quarterback for the Koppisch outfit in Buffalo. During his college days at Bucknell, Foster was considered one of the best field generals in eastern football...The Rock Island Independents have picked up a splendid prospect in Lamb, a backfielder, who is coaching at Lombard college. Lamb played his first pro game against Green Bay and he gave the Packers plenty of trouble...Tex Hamer has got off to another flying start for the Philadelphia Yellow Jackets and he bids fair to lead the pro league in touchdown scoring. In the game against Buffalo, Hamer got all four markers for the Frankfort team.

The kickoff is at 2:15. While the Packers are rated as the favorites in the contest Sunday, the knowing prognosticators and wisdom peddlers of the gridiron are inclined to believe that things have been evened up a bit by the Packer hospital list and then, too the Badgers are carrying some talented pigskin manipulators who have been underrated here. The management of the Green Bay Football corporation, however, is confident of victory and are ready to guarantee a remarkable exhibition carrying and passing the pigskin...VISITORS ARE STRONG: The Milwaukee club is a pretty husky gridiron machine. In Gillo, Barr, Roessler, Brumm, Bryant and a host of other stars, the Badgers are capable of making it interesting for any club in the pro league. Last week's game against the Cardinals should not be taken as an example of Milwaukee's quality because McGurk's hirelings went into this combat with but two days of practice. The Badgers have been drilling this past week and reported to be in tip-top shape for the combat. Milwaukee has never beaten Green Bay in a football game but its gridders are hopeful of breaking the jinx tomorrow. The absence of Lewellen is apt to be a blow to the Packers. The lanky backfielder has been showing all sorts of class this season and he was a big factor in the Green Bay attack. Although the injury he received in the Rock Island game is not as serious as first forecast, there is no chance of him jumping into Sunday's game and doing his stuff...SHIFTING HIS LINEUP: Captain Lambeau has been shifting his lineup frequently during the past week and, it is understood, that there may be several changes in the battle front. The Green Bay squad is set for a tough game because they know that Milwaukee will play harder against them than any other club in the postgraduate circuit. Arrangements have been made to handle another large crowd. Seats will be on sale at the usual places about town until Saturday evening at 8 o'clock. One of the ticket windows at the park will be opened Sunday morning at 10:30 for the sale of reserved seats. The gates at the park will be opened at 12:45. As at past games, the Legion band will be on hand to put a lot of extra pep into the crowd. The musicians will render a band concert before the game and between halves besides cutting loose whenever the occasion presents itself.

PACKERS DINE WITH KIWANIAN MONDAY

OCT 10 (Green Bay Press-Gazette) - Members of the Packer football team and officers of the Green Bay Football corporation will be guests of the Kiwanis club at the weekly luncheon at the Northland hotel Monday noon. It will be "football day" at the club and the Kiwanians are planning several features which will enliven the program. A big attendance of club members is forecast.
